U.S. Demands Return of 'Flint' to Crew

HUNT WINNIE JUDD ALONG MURDER PATH

Believe Trunk Killer Still Is Hiding in Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The escape of Winnie Ruth Judd through an unguarded door of the Arizona hospital for the insane prompted a search today from Phoenix to Los Angeles—the exact route over which she shipped the dismembered bodies of two murdered women companions eight years ago.

Y. C. White, governor's investigator who disclosed for the first time today how the escape Tuesday night was accomplished, believed, however, that the blond 34-year-old trunk murderer still was in hiding in Phoenix.

Her expressed desire, contained in a letter to Governor Bob Jones, to visit the hospital bedside of her husband in Los Angeles, caused authorities to be on the alert there.

A puzzling angle to the case was provided by reports from two Los Angeles newspapers that a man identifying himself as Burton J. McKinnell, brother of Mrs. Judd, had telephoned today from Washington, D. C. The newspapers said he asked them to relay this cryptic message to Mrs. Judd's husband and to her attorney:

"In case of a slip in plans are you available? Have copy of trial brief here to be used if necessary. One major blunder has already been made. However, if everything goes well for next 20 hours the probabilities are no court action will be necessary. If you are available, wire."

Asked to Relay Message

The Los Angeles Times was asked to relay the message to Dr. William C. Judd and the Examiner to send it to O. V. Willson, Mrs. Judd's attorney, who formerly lived at Phoenix.

White, executive secretary to Governor Jones, said an all-night investigation revealed that one door from the woman's ward of the hospital leading to the outside was unlocked Tuesday and remained unlocked throughout yesterday.

A Mexican girl attendant, whose name was not disclosed, ordinarily slept in a bed pushed against the door, which opened outward. Most of the attendants and patients went to a dance Tuesday night.

"I am convinced now the attendant was not in her bed, or that the bed previously had been pushed away from the door, and that all Winnie Ruth had to do was walk out," White said.

Time of Escape

White's investigation turned up this information:

Mrs. Judd escaped between 11:05 p. m. and midnight.

Endorsement

"The record of the American Red Cross is rich in valor and self-sacrifice," says Gov. Henry Horner. "Since 1881 this fine and efficient organization has given speedily aid to the victims of every major disaster on our continent. Officially charged by Congress with this work, it has met the responsibility faithfully."

"Yearly in preparation for future emergencies, the Red Cross sets aside a time for special efforts to widen its membership. The twenty-third annual roll call is to be carried on this year from Armistice Day, Nov. 11th, to Nov. 30."

"I give full and unqualified approval of this seasonal effort. We of Illinois may well have the friendliest of feeling for the Red Cross, which has helped our people in more than one great disaster. I hope everyone who possibly can will enroll as a member of his or her local Red Cross Chapter."

BRITAIN READY TO MAKE REPLY TO NAZI THREAT

Chamberlain Talks To Commons on War Situation Today

London, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, speaking of the German war against shipping before the House of Commons, declared today "it seems now to have become the rule for merchant ships to be sunk without warning."

"No words are strong enough to express our detestation of this form of warfare," the prime minister said in his weekly war report. In the past week, five British ships totaling 27,715 tons have been sunk, the prime minister said. He declared, however, that 28,367 tons of German shipping had been "arrested" and, in addition, one ship scuttled herself so Germany lost 53,000 tons.

He also confirmed that the British steamer Stenografe had been sunk by the German pocket battleship Deutschland "some time ago, but information of this loss has only just reached us."

However, Chamberlain declared,

Indian Summer Warms Most of United States

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Indian summer continued its post-seasonal splurge of warmth today, laying the heat upon most of the nation with a prodigious hand.

The dodged old trumper of the calendar denied the boon of shirt-sleeve and picnic weather only to the region of the Rockies and the extreme northern plains. Temperatures plummeted in those areas.

G. E. Dunn, U. S. weather bureau forecaster, said abnormally mild weather covered most of Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin and the areas eastward to the Atlantic coast and into the south. New England was only slightly less warm.

Chicago's temperatures were in the middle seventies, among the highest for October 26 in weather bureau history.

Dunn said observations indicated that the unusually mild weather would continue for several days throughout most of the eastern part of the nation and the south. Elsewhere, he forecast, the excessive warmth would be tempered somewhat by coolness and showers tomorrow.

BELLIGERENTS' ABUSE OF FLAG TO BE OFFENSE

Senate Adopts Amendment to Neutrality Law Providing Penalties

BULLETIN

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The senate defeated, 54 to 36, today a proposed amendment to the neutrality bill which would have forbidden the sale to foreign nations of poison gas, flame throwers and other materials used in chemical warfare.

Offered by Senators Danaher (R-Conn.) and Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the amendment was opposed by Democratic Leader Barkley and Senators Tydings (D-MD) and Connally (D-Tex.). The latter three argued that a belligerent nation would hesitate to use poison gas if it knew that supplies from the United States were available to its enemies.

Proponents of the amendment contended it would be unhumane to provide other countries with poison gases and the materials of chemical warfare.

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The senate inserted in the neutrality bill today a provision designed to prevent ships of foreign nations from sailing under the American flag after it was told that British vessels used that device during the World war to escape German submarine attacks.

This argument was advanced by Senator Tobey (R-NH) who disclosed that he had taken the matter up with Secretary Hull. The secretary, he said, advised him that there had been no indications that the British were making similar use of the flag in the present European war.

Tobey, who originally proposed the provision although the senate acted upon a less severe substitute put forward by Majority Leader Barkley, argued that the use of the flag by foreign vessels would endanger American lives and property.

The flag issue came up as the senate sped along toward a final vote on the neutrality act tomorrow.

Barkley objected to stringent penalty provisions included in the Tobey amendment, and his substitute relaxed the penalties. It was accepted on a voice vote.

Under it any foreign vessel which flew the American flag would be prohibited from entering American territorial waters or ports for a period of three months.

Any vessel which violated this regulation could be seized and its master fined up to $20,000 and imprisoned for not more than two years.

Brings Sharp Debate

The restriction on the use of the flag provoked sharp debate after Tobey told the senate that the British used the American flag on their merchant ships during the World war to "mislead German submarines" and escape capture.

Similar "abuse of the flag" in the present European conflict, he said, would endanger American vessels.

He had inquired recently of Hull, Tobey added, whether the state department had asked for assurances from Great Britain that its vessels would not fly the American flag in the present European war. Hull replied, he said, that there had been no indication that British ships were using the flag, and that consequently no assurances had been sought.

The debate on the Tobey provision

GERMANY SEEKS TO KEEP PRIZE AND FULL CARGO

Russia Releases German Prize Crew From Internment Today

Berlin, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Authoritative Germans declared today that Soviet Russia had agreed to allow the United States steamer City of Flint to leave the port of Murransk in charge of her German prize crew as soon as they considered the vessel seaworthy.

A spokesman indicated the vessel would be brought to Germany as a prize.

"The German prize crew will get 'board again'," he said, "and

One Escaped

Bergen, Norway, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Reports received here today indicated the American radio operator of the City of Flint, United States ship captured by the Germans, escaped the craft at Tromsø where survivors of the sinking of the British steamer Stonegate were put ashore.

The reports said he mixed with members of the British crew and wandered off the City of Flint unnoticed by the German prize crew as the Britons were sent ashore.

The present whereabouts of the radio man and his name were not immediately available.

you may rest assured the ship will not be headed for the United States."

The United States embassy said the German foreign office at noon (5 A. M., C.S.T.) had "informally communicated" to the embassy that the City of Flint entered Murransk because she had suffered "havarie" (sea damage) and that her American crew was safe and unhurt.

Sources close to the foreign office indicated that the communication was oral.

Report Crew Safe

(In Moscow, United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt said he had been assured the City of Flint's crew of 42 was safe aboard. Tass, Soviet news agency, said the vessel was taken to Murransk after a brief halt at Tromsø, Norway, because her machinery had been damaged.)

Authorized German sources said the case of the American ship had

Wallace Third Term Talk Called Inopportune

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A White House secretary said today Secretary Wallace should have consulted President Roosevelt before advocating his re-election for a third term.

Informed of Wallace's statement in San Francisco and asked for comment, Stephen Early, press secretary, said:

"It would have been kind and polite of the speaker to have consulted the victim before he spoke."

"Is the victim the President?" a reporter asked.

"He's the third term subject of the statement," Early replied.

Told that reaction to Wallace's remarks at the Capitol had been somewhat critical in view of administration requests that politics be adjourned during consideration of neutrality legislation, Early said:

"It could have been timed better if it had to be timed at all."

Wallace said in an interview that Europe's war had made plain the desirability of a third term for Roosevelt. He added the Presi-

Explanation

Toledo, Ore., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The official report said Herman Neal, a carpenter, fell from the roof of a two-story building and only scratched his finger.

Friends thought he was a pretty tough guy until they learned it was a pre-fabricated house, shipped in sections, and the roof was only six inches from the ground.

Miss Sumner Takes Little Bit of Home to Her Office in Washington

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Sumner most of all. She brought them to Washington from the Iroquois County Judge's office, where she presided before her election to congress.

On one wall is a large, round "Napoleon" mirror, an eagle atop. Miss Sumner is proud of this, too. She picked it up at an auction on an off day. Now and then she adds a book or two, mostly on sociology or economics, to the dictionary, Congressional Directory and a few other volumes the government leaves in the offices.

Miss Sumner couldn't get around to fixing up the office until the present (quiet, on the house side) session. But finally she went to work on it.

"It was a cinch," Miss Sumner explained. "All I did was bring a little bit of home to Washington, beginning with the curtains and rug."

Expensive

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Auditors figured it all up today and announced that the six-months regular session of the 61st general assembly this year cost taxpayers $1,266,643.58.

The largest item was $831,991.10 for compensating the 153 members of the house of representatives. That included their $5,000 salaries (for two years), $50 each for incidentals, and their mileage allowances. Senators drew $238,194.05 in compensation and mileage.

Rep. Franklin U. Stransky (R-Savanna) was the "best paid" member of the house, according to a statement of expenses prepared by the office of State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. It showed he received $5,842, including $792 in mileage allowances. Several Chicago senators drew the top figure of $5,530 in the upper house.

ENGLAND PARTLY EXCUSES SOVIET ACTS IN POLAND

Germans Set Example in Invasion, House of Lords is Told

London, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The British government partly excused Russia's share in the partition of Poland today as it was pressed in both houses of parliament to seek once more Russian friendship for the British-French alliance.

Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax declared that Russia had occupied eastern Poland only after Germany had "started it and set the example" and that the new frontier thereby established was "substantially the boundary" recommended by a British delegate at the time of the Versailles conference.

While Halifax was speaking in the upper house Prime Minister Chamberlain was declaring in Commons that Britain was ready to cope with Germany's "fait accompli."

Lord Halifax said Britain's pledge had been only "to provide against the case of aggression by Germany" though he admitted "it is quite true that it makes no difference to the Poles whether they are invaded from the east or west."

"The last thing I would wish to do in this matter," he told the House of Lords, "would be to defend the action of the Soviet government at the particular time they took it."

Cites Two Things

"But it is right to remember two things," he said. "First, that they would never have taken that action if the German government had not started it and set the example that they did set when they invaded Poland without any declaration of war."

"In the second place, it is worth while recalling that the action of the Soviet government has been to advance the Russian boundary to what was substantially the boundary recommended at the time of the Versailles conference by Lord Curzon."

(Lord Curzon then was the British foreign secretary.)

Lord Halifax spoke as Prime Minister Chamberlain, addressing the House of Commons, accused

Secretary Hull announced today the American government has demanded of Soviet Russia the return of the City of Flint and her cargo to her American crew.

London—British government partly excuses Russia's share in partition of Poland, Chamberlain says. Britain ready to cope with Germany's "fait accompli."

Vatican City—Pope Pius XII to issue first encyclical of reign tomorrow; expected to set forth his views on European war conditions.

Moscow—Soviet Russia protests against British contraband list; City of Flint held pending "precise verification" of cargo; German prize crew released.

Berlin—Germans hint American ship will be taken to Germany as war prize.

Helsinki—Finnish delegates return from Moscow with new proposals which Finns indicate still are not totally acceptable.

Paris—Western front quiet as French report signs of German preparations for offensive.

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Secretary Hull announced today the American government has demanded of Soviet Russia the return of the City of Flint and her cargo to her American crew.

The demand, Hull said, was presented by Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt, and no reply has yet been received.

The American demand, he said, was based on the United States conception of international law on the subject.

(In Berlin authoritative persons declared that Soviet Russia had agreed to permit the vessel to leave the Russian port of Murransk in charge of her German prize crew as soon as they considered the vessel seaworthy.)

Hull said this country's views of the international law on the matter embraced a United States Supreme Court decision in the case of the British steamer Appam which was sent by the German raider Moeve in 1916 into Hampton Roads, Virginia, with a German prize crew aboard.

Cites Court Decision

The Supreme Court's decision called for the release of the vessel on the grounds that Germany had no right to send a prize ship into an American port. Hull said the American position also embraced article 21 of the Hague convention of 1907 which said that a prize

316 Golden Wedding Couples in Ohio Gathering

Cleveland, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Three hundred couples who have lived together 50 years or longer got together last night and laughed about divorce.

It was probably as striking a party as anyone ever attended—the gathering of 316 Cleveland golden wedding couples in one hotel ballroom. Some of them had been married 65 years; one couple who observed their 50th wedding anniversary only last week barely got into the novices division.

A few walked with canes; some of the men leaned heavily upon the arms of their younger helpmates. But a lot of them, party caps set jauntily on their white hair, got out on the dance floor and did the square dances they learned in courtship days last century. They sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and agreed "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to Be."

Then they had coffee and cake. A young fellow married only 41 years—Jack Raper, a columnist for the Cleveland Press which sponsored the party—made a speech.

"Yes, sir," he observed, "marriage is quite an institution. It has become universal. Why, in Hollywood, it's a habit."

And the 316 couples wedded 50 years or more sat back in their chairs and laughed about divorce.

War Government of Canada Wins in Quebec Poll

Quebec, Oct. 25.—(Canadian Press)—The Liberal party swept into power in Quebec province today with an election victory acclaimed by Dominion officials as an endorsement of the Canadian government's war policy.

The vote overturned the Union Nationale government of Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis, who had called the election after challenging war expenditures approved by the Ottawa administration.

Duplessis, who carried his own constituency to retain a seat in the provincial legislature, will be succeeded as premier by Adélard Godbout, who headed the Quebec government for two months in 1936.

Dominion Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King, under whose Liberal government Canada went to war at the side of Great Britain, said at Ottawa that it was "impossible to exaggerate the significance" of the voting yesterday.

"It has shown above all," the prime minister said, "that the people of Quebec are as one with their fellow Canadians in the determination that a united Canada shall cooperate at the side of Britain and France in the war to defend freedom and resist aggression."

The Liberal victory eased a tense situation in the Dominion cabinet, from which the three Liberal ministers from Quebec had said they would resign if their party were defeated.

The vote gave the Liberals 68 of the 86 seats in the legislature—a gain of 54 over the number of places the party won in the last election in 1936.

Mrs. Margaret Sheehan Died Early This Morn at Home of Daughter

Mrs. Margaret Sheehan, 77, passed away early this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Cahill, at 613 Galena avenue, after an illness of three weeks. She was born April 1, 1862, in Whiteside county and spent most of her life in this vicinity.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Cahill; a son, John of Chicago; two grandchildren, Mrs. Sherwood Dixon and John Cahill both of Dixon; six great grandchildren; six sisters, Mrs. Mary Knalley and Mrs. L. V. Combs, both of Chicago; Mrs. Ellen Rourke of DeKalb; Mrs. Michael Dunn of Ohio, and Mrs. Sadie McCarroll and Mrs. William Egler both of Dixon; one brother, Ambrose Kilday of Sterling. One brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of her daughter and at 9:30 at St. Patrick's church with the Rev. P. Thomas L. Walsh officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood.

Garner Disturbs Senate's Calm by Deciding Day is 24, Not 504, Hours

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The unique discovery by Vice President Garner that a day has 24 hours, not 504, has upset the traditional calm of the senate as much as anything that the realistic Texan has done in his seven years as its presiding officer.

Some senators complained when the vice president, accustomed to the faster pace of the house, brought a whip lash speed to parliamentary procedure in the chamber. The senate always has been allergic to speed. But members still find themselves compelled to perform a certain amount of acrobatics if they get to their feet in time to object to a bill before Garner spans it into a running start for the White House.

In that case, however, the vice president only introduced the business of his personality into his duties as presiding officer. He had not the leisurely restraint of the late Charles Curtis, steeped as the latter was in senate tradition because of his long service there.

Since 1789, the senate has had a rule that no member shall speak more than twice on any one question in debate on the same day without the senate's consent. To employ that rule in a way which would forestall filibusters, majority leaders frequently have resorted to the practice of recessing from day to day instead of adjourning. The substitution of one of these magic words for the other changes the whole face of the legislative calendar.

It's Now Oct. 4 in Senate

If the senate adjourns, the next day is a new legislative day. If it recesses, the same old day is just 24 hours longer. By the senate's legislative calendar, it is now October 4.

Nevertheless, under the no-debate-twice-in-one-day rule, a

600,000 Men Trapped
If ever a people and their leader were on the spot, it happened during the first few days after the children of Israel started to leave the land of Egypt, as recorded in the 14th chapter of Exodus.

They found themselves in a kind of pocket on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez, an arm of the Red Sea. A high cliff of steep rock called Migdol (the watch tower) was on their right, the sea on their left, and an impassable swamp in front of them, and in their rear they could see the rising dust of the horses and chariots of the Egyptian army.

Do not fail to hear how this seemingly impossible situation was negotiated by Moses and his people. The pastor of the Presbyterian church of Rochelle will have this bit of history for the basis of his sermon next Sunday morning.

Ellis B. Cartwright, student pastor of Holcomb was the speaker here last Sunday, while the local pastor conducted communion service for the Holcomb church.

It is expected that a large number of the Christian Endeavor young people will attend a great Youth Rally to be held at Oswego next Sunday afternoon and evening.

If you have no other church obligations, the Presbyterian church invites you.

In New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Do you know that the World's Fair management finally got wise and clipped the admission price from six-bits to four-bits? The result was the biggest month of the year—October—and it came at a time when the concessions were getting ready to close shop. If the Fair weren't going to open next year, this would be a sad story, a story of fumbling and missed opportunity.

How the Fair ever expected to get anywhere at 75 cents a head is something you will have to figure out—I can't. Fairs have to play to great masses of people. The great masses of people, with families averaging four to six each, can't afford to go to fairs at prices like that. All during the summer the people stayed away from the Fair in awe-inspiring numbers. All during the summer you could go out on week days and have the whole sidewalk to yourself. There weren't any crowds there to jostle you around.

Then the last month rolled around, and the fee was whittled down to half a dollar. I still think 25 cents would be plenty. If the Fair people shove it up to 75 cents again next year, I think the people ought to give it a wide berth, and let the officials have the whole empty Flushing meadow to worry in. I don't know why it is, but most people think they can take advantage of the public in affairs of this nature—they think the public will fall for anything. They think just because there's a "New York" label on it the public will pour in and pay any price. I think the American public has been wised up a lot in recent years. It's just as smart at the crossroads as it is in the metropolitan centers. The record of the New York World's Fair for 1939 proves this beyond doubt.

With such a marvelous outlay of money and ingenuity at the World's Fair, it is a pity that the first year couldn't have been a good one, and that it wasn't made as available to the public as it should have been. No doubt there will be many changes for the better next year. No doubt the management will improve where improvements are obvious. But the big idea, then as now, will be to get crowds—and at reasonable admission prices, the crowds will knock down the gates. But hike them back to 75 cents, and it's going to be another lonesome summer on Flushing Meadow.

Nobody knows quite what he is. He may be an eskimo pup, or a spitz. A man had two on the curb the other night, waving their heads around. . . . "Buy a pup, buy a pup," he sang in a high falsetto voice. . . . "Buy a Pup."

They looked like a couple of wads of pure white cotton. Sure, I bought one. . . . Four dollars. I'm easy like that. . . . He's probably a month old. The man didn't know. In any case, if you want to write it down in the record, his name is Thursday. Not very original, but I have a black cat named Friday, and Thursday seemed a good idea.

PEACE OFFICERS STUDY EFFECT OF CASSIDY'S RULE

Attorney General Says Sheriffs Cannot Have Radio Facilities

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—State officials studied today the effect of Attorney General John E. Cassidy's opinion that Illinois county boards may not legally spend general county funds to hire sheriff's deputies or operate radio patrols.

Ross C. Saunders, chief of the state's bureau of crime prevention, said it would be a "calamity" if counties that were blocked from equipping sheriff's cars with two-way radio communication. Use of radio, he said, has sharply reduced rural crime in several counties.

The attorney general's opinion said the Madison county board of supervisors, in appropriating general funds for salaries of deputies making up a highway patrol called the "night riders," had acted without constitutional or statutory authority.

The opinion said only the fee earnings of the sheriff's office could be expended for any policing function, under the state constitution of 1870. Consequently, said the opinion, a Madison county appropriation to hire sheriff's radio operators also was unconstitutional.

To Seek New Legislation
A delegation from that county, bearing a petition signed by 7,000 persons, has asked Governor Horner to permit the general assembly to consider enabling legislation in a special session.

The state crime prevention bureau, a branch of the state bureau of investigation, recently has been urging counties to equip sheriff's cars with two-way radios. Officials, including Sheriff Walter R. Wittman of Madison county, declared some form of new legislation would be needed if additional counties were to adopt this method of combatting crime.

Wittman declared fee earnings of all sheriffs had been drastically reduced by the recent civil practice act, and generally were "far inadequate" to buy or operate radio equipment.

Saunders declined to forecast the immediate effect of the opinion on counties now operating or preparing to operate radio radio systems. He said these included Cook, Macon, Lake LaSalle, Kane and McLean.

GET WORK EXPERIENCE
Chicago—(AP)—Expenditure of nearly $200,000 a month in Illinois to give work experience to about 12,000 young persons was reported by the National Youth Administration. Designed to enhance employability of the youths, the projects pay monthly wages ranging from $14 to $21 for 56 hours' work.

ALL EYES TURNED INWARD, PLEASE

This may be the time for Americans to take their eyes off Europe momentarily and examine a few things that have been forgotten in this country. It has been inevitable that attention should stray from internal problems while a major conflict was taking shape elsewhere in the world, but American affairs are still as momentous as they always were and demanding of the same careful scrutiny.

Overshadowed by war but not forgotten in the general world melee are the old-age pension plans blossoming in various forms throughout the nation. In a comparatively short time, the demand for legislation to meet the needs of the aged has risen from an inaudible voice to an insistent racket. There is no debate on the moral principle involved—the proper care of needy aged. There is considerable difference of opinion as to how this goal should be reached.

Many states are currently wrestling with old-age pension plans. California has its "Ham and Eggs" scheme with its "30-Every-Thursdays" and Ohio has its Bigelow plan. Texas is trying to work out a system and Colorado is presently administering a $45 monthly minimum pension for which all persons over 60 are eligible.

Most of the plans now before the voters—and the few in effect—are outgrowths of the Townsend plan which still has an enormous following.

The chief bar to the payment of pensions higher than the $30 grant, common in most states, is the raising of sufficient funds. Colorado is reporting all kinds of difficulties in meeting the $45 payment. Relief allowances have been cut, taxes have been increased, school expenditures have been reduced—and the state is still incurring a deficit in paying its 40,000 pensioners.

The citizens of this country might also turn to the drouth-stricken farmers. It is estimated that 115,000 families are in urgent need of immediate help in 30 different states because of the severe autumn drouth. To meet this situation, a group of congressional leaders has formed an unofficial committee and is studying methods of bringing relief to these farm families.

Both these matters—pensions and drouth—are more important to this country than war at the moment. Both must be taken up dispassionately, without the influence of war hysteria.

WAR ON DISEASE

The battle against disease goes on slowly, relentlessly, in the end usually productive of new developments to lessen the annual toll of lives.

Once in a while, scientists aiming for one result, stumble accidentally upon another, totally different from but as significant as the one they sought. Something like that happened when a Washington physician used the new drug, sulfa-pyridine to combat pneumonia germs. The doctor's patient was also infected with influenza germs, and the drug destroyed not only the pneumonia bacteria but the influenza germs as well.

Subsequent experiments by the U. S. Public Health Service have borne out the theory that sulfa-pyridine can be used effectively against influenza. But scientists are unwilling to accept the findings as definite until exhaustive research has been completed.

At all events, there is some reason to believe that important progress has been made. The drug must be used with considerable care, and it will probably be some time before it is generally accepted. But the discovery may be the beginning of a fresh battle on influenza.

CHINA FOR SALE

Judging by political maneuverings in the far east, poor old China is about to be turned over to Japan. As we will be told when the deal is completed, if it ever is, the transaction will be in the interests of peace and humanity. It is odd how British interests always parallel the interests of humanity.

As we prepare to jigger our trade treaty with Japan so as to act parallel with the interests of Britain, whose interests always parallel those of humanity, we hear rumors that the British are prepared to revive their old Anglo-Japanese alliance, and that the French are urging Chiang Kai-Shek to make peace with Japan. You will remember that the French and English urged Czechoslovakia to help Germany preserve peace early last fall.

How odd it would be if we were to cancel our trade advantages with Japan, only to find the British prepared to reap the advantages.

But that would be in the interests of humanity.

CAN'T BLAME NATURE

Heart-warming beauty surrounds us on every side at this season of the year as the fields turn to amber and trees are laden with leaves richly tinted with gold, warm brown and red. The air is crisp, dry and healthful.

Harvests have been bountiful and storehouses are filled with apples, peaches, pears and other produce of field and orchard. Sheep frisk on the hillsides dressed in our next winter's overcoats. Forests are at hand for our houses and the subsoil is filled with fuel, metals and oil for humanity's use. The earth is laden with bounty and still men lack enough to eat, enough to wear and fuel for the approaching cold.

Worst of all, the situation is true over a goodly portion of the earth, but still men are fighting.

Enough to make one's brain reel in its socket.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

More than 100,000 persons will gather on a farm near Lawrence, Kan., on Nov. 3 to watch, not a world's heavyweight title fight nor a championship football game, but a cornhusking tournament. Nobody has ever bothered to count the fans who flock annually to the Corn Belt Derby, but estimates have run as high as 130,000.

No other type of contest has ever attracted as many people. The size of the corn-husking following becomes even more remarkable when it is considered that the tournament is held away from metropolitan centers.

It is refreshing, in a frenzied world, to sit back for a moment and consider this enthusiasm for a simple sport. A little more of this could do no harm. The world needs more cornhusking contests, more spelling bees, more hog calling tournaments—it needs to laugh, and to cull joy from sports much simpler than those involving 37-millimeter guns and 500-ton death-spitting tanks.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Oct. 25 — With wars going on in Europe and Asia, with might making new rights throughout the world each day—The army of the richest and greatest nation, the United States, has not enough good rifles to go around. It's an inside but incontrovertible fact that only 15,000 to 20,000 of the excellent new Garands are available for about 120,000 men, or one rifle to about each sixth trooper. Orders have been placed for 65,000 more, but when the army gets these in June, 1941, it will have only 110,000 or so for the 200,000 or so men it hopes to have by then.

The whole American land defense force has less than half as many anti-aircraft guns as the British have defending the city of London alone—meaning we have less than 450 to defend the full length of Atlantic and Pacific coastlines, not to mention the Panama Canal. Those ordered will still leave the coasts with 100 less than the British have around London. If the army provided what New York Mayor LaGuardia considers essential for the defense of our metropolis, they would give him every gun they have in the country, and leave the rest of the U. S. undefended.

The American army has never been able to get a division together in the United States for maneuvers since the World War. Officers have been able to acquire not the slightest experience in handling war time divisions of troops (a streamlined division is 8,900 men.) Plans have recently been announced to foregather division strengths at Fort Benning, Georgia; Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Fort Lewis, Washington; Camp McClellan, Alabama; Camp Jackson, South Carolina; and Fort Bliss, Texas, but . . .

Orders for the concentration of these troops around December 1 had to be issued during the past week so they would have time to get there. No congressional appropriations were made for their housing and feeding en route. They must stop only at army posts, thereby delaying their assembly.

It would take the United States 8 to 12 months to organize a force of 1,000,000 fighting men. The Poles had nearly twice this number prepared against Hitler, including their trained reserves, whereas we have only 320,000 in the National Guard.

Hitler subdued the Poles with mechanized innovations—the gasoline cavalry which penetrated Polish lines and prevented formidable organized resistance to the main moving troop body. He used ten mechanized (Panzer) divisions to effect the result. The United States has not even one full war strength mechanized brigade, although its defensive strategy would seem to require fastest mobility to defend its lengthy coastlines.

American deficiency in artillery is a full tale in itself. We have no modern 155 millimeter howitzers for counter battery work; we have a good 8 inch howitzer, but only four (yes, four) of them; the gun carries on our French 75 MM. guns are of an old model designed 40 years ago; we have no 105 howitzers which the European armies have developed for lighter artillery work.

In grand total, the U. S. army is seventeenth in the list of world military forces, just ahead of Roumania and exactly the size of the Polish regulars, but behind them in war strength because Polish mobilization unearthed more than a million military reserves.

The administration is beginning to bestir itself about the situation, but not nearly as much as interested congressmen. The existing condition may not last long. New appropriations are being prepared for the coming congressional session, but even these are not taking the long objective view of the new power of might in diplomacy.

Truth is American defense appropriations have been built upon the assumption that the United States would never be attacked because it is backed by two oceans and two friends. Furthermore, it is a peace-loving nation and its midwestern congressmen have always believed that defense funds were sheer appropriations for toys to amuse the soldiers and sailors.

A change in that opinion is becoming evident.

Midwestern congressmen are saying privately what they will soon say publicly, that in a world of might, the United States must be prepared to have its judgment respected with as adequate a force as Hitler, for instance, could prepare under a different form of government.

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: Mrs. Murchison has received a letter in her husband's handwriting, from Chicago, dated six weeks after his disappearance, saying that he is never going to return.

Chapter 17

SOMEWHERE IN BETWEEN

Michael spoke suddenly. "Let's forget all this conjecturing, and guessing. Let's get what we know organized—down on paper. Then we've got something to work on. I'm getting fed up with fiddling about."

"Motives?" queried his father. "Where are you going to start? Bunny wanted to know. 'Whose motives? The diamond hunters, if any, the murderers, if any, or what have you?'"

"The Professor," Michael said. "If any, of course."

"It's like 'button, button, who's got the button?'" Tuck murmured. Michael threw her a cold glance. "Levity from here on is out," he said decisively. "Now we start. This thing probably isn't much of a mystery at all. There's no use keeping on with all this suspicion from we're barking up the wrong tree, if there isn't any tree. Supposing we start at the beginning, and think about Murchison himself. He's gone. This letter apparently clears up the question of his whereabouts, but we'll forget about that letter. Why did he go?"

The District Attorney tapped his pipe thoughtfully. He glanced up at his son, but said nothing. "First," Michael went on, "his wife says he probably went off to do some laboratory work to conduct some obscure experiment."

"What experiment?" Bunny demanded. "Why couldn't he conduct it here?"

"That doesn't really bother me," said Michael. "The question is, what lab? As far as I'm concerned, that first possibility is out."

"There are labs in Chicago," Tuck said tentatively.

Michael frowned. "I suppose I may as well own up," he said, "I do not believe in that letter for a moment. In the first place, it was worded too vaguely. He merely said, in two sentences, that he was not returning to her, and perhaps she would understand. He didn't say where he was going or what he was going to do. He told her to forget him."

"And does she understand?" "She says she doesn't. Although I smell a herring there, too. A very bright red herring. But the real question in my mind is—why did he wait for six weeks to mail that letter? Can you answer me that?"

The District Attorney nodded to himself. Michael answered his own question, looking down into the interested eyes turned to his face.

"Because," he said, "he didn't. 'Didn't wait six weeks?' 'What do you mean, Michael? It was in his own handwriting.' 'Yes, but—when did he write it? Before he went, or just before he mailed it?' 'You think he might have left that note for her? That she had it all the time . . . and then . . .'"

Tuck's mind was following out the steps. Her eyes shone.

"Yes, And, has the lady any friends in Chicago? Suddenly, you see, she factors that she has to explain the Professor's absence. Things are getting unpleasant—or she wants the police out. Perhaps getting them in was only a gesture. So, she gets the bright idea of dating this letter—the date she mailed it. By the way, the expert is almost ready to swear it's Murchison's hand but not quite—dating it, sending it to some friend in Chicago with instructions to mail it back to her. Simple. The Professor's absence quite satisfactorily explained, and the police called off."

Three Reasons

"And what precipitated this bit of finesse, Michael?" the District Attorney wanted to know. Michael shrugged his shoulders. "Perhaps she really heard from the Professor and he gave her the devil for starting this search." He avoided his father's eyes.

"Or perhaps she discovered that the diamonds were really here in the house, and she wanted to get them," Tuck said. "And, she began to think the police were finding out too much. The key question in my mind is, of course, what happened to the Professor? Where does he go? How did he get the devil from? How did he get there, Michael?"

"Well, perhaps. Next, then; supposing the letter is authentic. He may have gone off with a lady friend."

"We've talked about that," Tuck objected. "It's no use going over it again."

"Not any. Very well, then. There's something we haven't discussed. They say there are usually three reasons for a man's disappearance. Loss of memory, which we don't seem to be dealing with. A lady friend, which we can't substantiate as yet; and fear of punishment for some crime."

that the army appropriations next session will be increased. They may be doubled.

Another reason why the situation has not been presented squarely to the public is that the army itself hesitates to speak out. Its generals naturally feel themselves liable to democratic (small "d" please) political influences. They would rather point with pride than view with alarm. They must be soft spoken for fear of arousing individual congressmen and a peace insisting country which seems to have armed itself upon the expectation of being forever free from attack. When the secretaries and generals speak to Kiwanis clubs around the country as they do, they are careful to bury their statements of the facts in soft blankets. Furthermore, the army mule has been kicked around here the last six years by the navy goat. The president's predilections are well known, but the effect upon national defense may not be fully appreciated.

In any other nation these days the situation would make a national scandal.

the disappearing person has committed."

"What crime?"

"As yet, none. So there's no use talking about that, although we'll keep it in mind."

Bunny drew a deep breath and settled into her chair. "You're still talking about voluntary disappearance, Michael," she said quietly. "You've broken the ice. Now go on to what's more likely."

"Oh well," said Michael lightly. "If you must have it." He dropped down into the big chair by the desk. "Murder," he said.

Tuck moved restlessly in her chair. Michael glanced at her, and went on. "Robbery, jealousy, hate," he said. "Three possible motives. Everything comes under those three heads."

"Robbery, the diamonds," Bunny murmured.

"Yes. And that will take in the largest circle of suspects. From Marie Murchison down to Higgins—and beyond. An unknown thief could have murdered him for the diamonds."

"Scarcely," the District Attorney said with a twinkle. "You can't go too far, Michael. You'd have a lot of little fine threads to pick up if you start talking so."

"Very well," Michael conceded. "No unknowns. We'll then. Higgins is the most likely suspect."

"Piffle," said Bunny. "Not alone, Michael. He hasn't the brains."

"No. Well, to go on. Jealousy."

"The lady's husband," murmured Tuck. "Yes. But first we'll have to find the lady. So far there doesn't seem to be any."

The District Attorney sat forward suddenly in his chair, and gazed intently into the fire. Bunny was watching him. She frowned to herself. Michael was watching her.

"There is, of course," he said slowly, "another possibility there. Mrs. Murchison is a most attractive woman."

Gray Box

Bunny shut her eyes. Tuck stared at Michael. "You mean . . ." she began.

He shook his head at her. "Anyone might be in love with Mrs. Murchison," he told her. Her eyes were still fixed on his. He glanced at Bunny.

"Of course," Tuck said quietly. "A perfect stranger might. Someone we haven't heard of at all."

"Someone who lives in Chicago," muttered the District Attorney.

"And the last point," Michael went on hastily. "Hate."

His father turned and looked at him. "Where do you put revenge, my lad?" he asked. "It's a funny, queer, fermenting thing. It grows out of nothing but hate."

"Hate takes in all that," Michael decided. "All types of enmity and revenge. It gives us a wide course."

"I don't believe he was the sort of man one hates," Tuck said swiftly. "If I think his brother is a perfect darling. So there?"

"I wish," said Bunny slowly. "I wish we could find the diamonds." "Oh, as for that," said Michael loftily, "it's very simple. I know where they are."

They were all beside him now, peering down through the grating. Michael knelt. He had the pipe knife from the desk in his hand. He applied it to the screws on each side of the grating, and after a few seconds of breathless silence lifted the grating out, and laid it beside him.

They were all below the grating formed a square and ran along under the floor. Joining with it at the back was the pipe that came straight down from the dressing room above. At the juncture of the two, on a little shelf stood a bent sheet of gray tin, forming a box, and hanging over the top of it were Tuck's ratty corals.

"So, it was my idea, you young scallawag," his father said. "Your idea, my clever parent. Somewhere in between, you said. It bothered me. I thought about it. They are."

He lifted out the corals and handed them to Tuck. Then he leaned forward and picked up the gray box.

If, too, was made of tin, like the pipe. It was perhaps six inches long, by three wide, and three deep, and the lid was covered with thick dust and fastened down by a hasp and tiny padlock.

CORN QUEEN FETED

Danville, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Miss Maxine Lindley, the 18-year-old clerk who will reign as queen of the Illinois state corn husking contest here next Monday, went to Chicago yesterday where she will be treated to two days of sightseeing. Miss Lindley was elected in a contest sponsored by the Danville Commercial News, whose readers nominated 70 candidates.

DANISH CENSORSHIP

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Western Union has issued notification that censorship had been established in Denmark.

Private code in cablegrams will not be permitted by Danish authorities and other registered codes must be designated by name in each message, the company said.

HOLIDAY RAIL RATES

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Round trip coach fares on all western railroads will be reduced temporarily by approximately 5 per cent effective Dec. 5, the Transcontinental-Western Passenger Association announced today. The new reduction is from 1.9 cents a mile to 1.8 cents.

Closer Watch on Trend in Prices By Government

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—War abroad and a stepping up of demand at home have set the government departments to keeping a much closer watch on price trends than they maintained in normal times.

The labor department, for instance, has provided a 24-hour check on price changes.

Several other departments maintain price reporting systems but only in certain phases of current conditions. The labor department is interested in all the factors that affect the cost of living.

It can tell the day by day changes in the price of navy beans in Boston, pork chops in Buffalo, potatoes in Denver, lard in Houston or butter in Los Angeles.

Generally speaking, retail prices have moved up more in Boston since the war started than in other cities on the labor department chart. Eleven selected foods show an average leap in cost of 16.8 per cent in the Boston area since August 15. Washington stands second with a jump of 16.4 per cent.

Included In List

The list covers sugar, flour, lard, pork chops, butter, navy beans, chuck roast, coffee, bread, potatoes and cocoa.

Houston, Texas, has had the smallest increase with 8.8 per cent for the 11 items.

Bread showed the smallest change. It was unchanged in every place but New York, where it went down 3 per cent.

Some prices were erratic. Flour went down 6 per cent in Houston and up 56 per cent in Boston. Lard has probably the biggest general jump, with a general rise ranging from 21 per cent in New York to 65 per cent in Denver.

Some economists blamed the price rises on an expected increase in demand due to the war, but in many respects, this has not fully materialized. There remains a farm surplus with plenty of wheat and corn, pigs and cattle.

The erratic course of prices and the close watch being kept on them by the government is leading to behind-the-scenes discussions of creating a price fixing agency.

Farmers' Coops in Three States Borrow Heavily From Uncle

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Farmers' cooperatives in Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas have borrowed more than $8,500,000 from the St. Louis bank for Cooperatives, its president, D. M. Hardy, reported at a conference of officials of the 12 district banks for cooperatives.

Hardy said about $6,500,000 out of the $8,500,000 borrowed from the St. Louis bank since it was organized in 1933 had been repaid by last Sept. 30, that only $15,000 was delinquent on $2,400,000 outstanding Sept. 30 in loans to 195 cooperatives.

He said the bank had financed 26 farmer cooperatives and at present is financing 124 co-ops in Illinois, 66 in Missouri and five in Arkansas.

First Encyclical of Pope Pius XII Will Be Delayed

Vatican City, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Prelates today said the first Encyclical of Pope Pius XII would be delayed, probably until next week.

The Encyclical had been expected Oct. 28 but these sources reported without explanation that publication had been postponed several days.

Vatican officials declined to forecast the contents, but authoritative sources said it probably would be devoted largely to the present troubled conditions of the world.

Pope Pius is expected to return to the Vatican Friday from his summer palace at Castel Gondolfo.

His first appointment of new cardinals also was reported likely in the near future. Officials said the first consistory was almost certain to occur in December.

Among those mentioned as likely to be named at that time was Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York as successor to the late Patrick Cardinal Hayes.

It was considered unlikely the first list would include another American cardinal to replace George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, who died Oct. 2. However, the Most Rev. Stephen J. Donahue, auxiliary bishop of New York, is mentioned prominently as a possible successor.

In the seven months since the election of Pope Pius, death has reduced the college of cardinals further by four, leaving 31 Italians and 26 foreigners.

It was believed unlikely the Pope would bring the college to its maximum size of 70 at his first consistory.

A sightseeing bus capable of carrying 120 passengers is reported to have been built by a German automobile company.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on acids or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 4 pints a day.

If the 18 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start making backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 18 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

They were named yesterday in an all-university election from a field of 16 finalists. They will be guests of honor and take part in half-time ceremonies at the Illinois-Northwestern football game Saturday at Evanston.

Kankakee Band to Play for Service Club Charity Ball

Before the end of the week, members of the Service club will have mailed 450 announcements to prospective party-goers as a reminder of the club's Charity ball. The ball is to be an event of Friday evening, Nov. 1, in Brinton Memorial Masonic temple, with Earl Betourne's popular dance band from Kankakee furnishing sound effects.

Mrs. Gunder Torstenson has supervised the making of the announcements, which are attractively decorated with an autumn hunting scene. A corps of workers have been busy for some time, preparing the cards for posting.

Progress in plans for the dance was reported at yesterday's meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Haines. Members present were Mesdames Clarence Vroegindewey, Edward Jones, Taber Johnson, Robert Dixon, John Roe, Forrest Trautwein, Ragnar Erikson, S. P. Stackhouse, Gunder Torstenson, and the hostess.

Mrs. John Culey will entertain in two weeks.

CLUBWOMEN TO ENTERTAIN AT FAMILY PARTY

Members of the Ideal club were looking ahead to Thanksgiving and planning their annual family party, when they met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jacob Wohnke. The affair was announced for Nov. 15 at the J. R. McDaniel home.

Prized possessions of the club members, ranging from old linen and lace to silverware, choice china, counterpanes, paisley shawls, and jewelry, were named during roll call. Mrs. Ella Ireland presented the lesson study, taken from "Early History of New England," mentioning several noted students enrolled at Harvard university about 1817, including John Quincy Adams and his contemporaries.

Mrs. O. F. Goeke's mother, Mrs. A. W. Sarsfield of Atlantic, Iowa, and Mrs. Carl Santee and little daughter, Martha Mae, were guests.

VISITS O. E. S. IN AUSTIN, ILL.

Mrs. George Beier returned yesterday afternoon from Chicago, after attending a Grand Representatives' Night meeting of Austin chapter, O. E. S., in Austin, Ill. on Tuesday evening, and a breakfast for grand representatives at the home of Mrs. Mertis Price in Austin yesterday morning.

Mrs. Beier, who is grand representative of Saskatchewan, served as associate conductress for the Tuesday evening meeting, at which Mrs. Lillian Burchby, past worthy grand matron, was guest of honor.

Mrs. Beier was accompanied to Chicago by her mother, Mrs. Maud Chiverton.

MENDOTA GIRL ANNOUNCES HER WEDDING DATE

Announcement of Miss Lucille Cresto's approaching marriage to Bruce Hulz was made last evening when Miss Cresto entertained 12 guests at 7:30 o'clock dinner-bridge at her home in Mendota. Saturday, Nov. 11 is the date set for the wedding ceremony.

Pastel colors were used by Miss Cresto at her party tables. Prizes in the card games went to Mrs. Owen Madden of Mendota and Miss Evelyn Gress of Peru.

TUXIS PARTY

The Tuxis club of the Presbyterian church, an organization for freshmen and sophomores, are planning a Halloween party for Friday evening in the church basement. Last Sunday evening's meeting of the club was preceded by a supper at the Bryant cottage on the Rock river.

Mink - Muskrat

One of the nicest of the many-purpose budget furs is mink-blended muskrat. Casual lines makes this smart model right for daytime and football games. Yet, as can be seen in the picture, it is just as chic for evening. The slit pockets are practically invisible, thus preserving the sleek lines.

THIMBLE CLUB HOLDS PARTY

Pumpkins and autumn leaves brought the harvest season indoors for members of the Silver Thimble club who were guests of Mrs. Roy Randall at a Halloween masquerade last evening. A scarecrow was stationed at the front door, bearing a sign which invited the guests to "walk right in."

The evening's prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Whipperman, Mrs. Floyd Emmitt, and Mrs. Orville Heckman. Refreshments were served at the close of the games.

Mrs. Elmer Shilling and Mrs. Charles Randall were guests. Members attending were Mesdames Roy Randall, S. E. Wirth, Clinton Holderman, Floyd Emmitt, George Wolford, Walter Heckman, Orville Heckman, Harry Whipperman, William Eller, George Bain, and Walter Thurn.

Mrs. George Bain will entertain at an afternoon meeting on Nov. 9.

WED IN IOWA

Miss Helen Moser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Moser of Stockton, and Alfred Smith, eldest son of Mrs. Maggie Smith of near Brookville, were married Saturday afternoon in Dubuque, Iowa. The Rev. L. Ulrich, pastor of the Evangelical church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore royal blue crepe with black accessories. The couple will reside with the bridegroom's mother for the present.

MENDOTA PAIR WILL CELEBRATE

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Miller of Mendota will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday at their home on Fourth avenue. They are planning an open house reception from 3 to 5 P. M.

Methodist Women Compliment Mrs. F. L. Blewfield

Nearly 100 women of the Methodist church were received at the home of Mrs. A. N. Boyd yesterday afternoon between 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock by members of the General Aid society, who were introducing Mrs. F. L. Blewfield, the wife of their new pastor. Receiving with Mrs. Boyd were Mrs. W. E. Whitson, president of the Aid society, Mrs. Blewfield, Mrs. Casper Blimbing, Mrs. Charles Crombie, Mrs. Charles Willford and Mrs. F. G. Eno.

Mrs. Fred E. Ball presided at the frappe bowl, assisted by Mrs. E. J. Brown, Mrs. A. E. Sheffield, Mrs. E. M. Greene, Mrs. T. W. Boyd, Mrs. Herbert Schumacher and Mrs. Louis Franks. Ivory tapers in silver holders shone down on a center bouquet of sweetpeas on the lace-covered refreshment table.

SEW FOR MISSION

Christmas gifts for a Tennessee mission provided needlework for members of the Palmyra Mutual Aid society, who were guests yesterday of Mrs. Ella Phillips. Mrs. Richard Bovey entertained with Mrs. Phillips, their guests numbering 26.

A scramble luncheon was followed by a brief business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Charles Butterbaugh, the society president. Mrs. Frank Beede led the devotional service. Names of favorite flowers were the theme for roll call, and during the afternoon, the members exchanged bulbs and seeds.

Mrs. Leroy Buhler will entertain on Nov. 8.

WILL ATTEND FALL CONCLAVE AT CALEDONIA

Young people of the Presbyterian church will motor to Caledonia, Ill. on Sunday afternoon to attend the annual Fall Conclave of the order of Sigma Sigma Chi, an interdenominational organization for Christian young people. The program will open at 3 o'clock, and is to be featured by an address by Dr. James Benson, founder of the order, and other guest speakers.

The meeting will close with a supper in the Argyle Presbyterian church, which recently observed the one-hundredth anniversary of its founding in the Scotch community, which was founded by families from Caledonia, Scotland.

All young people of the church are invited to attend, whether or not they are members of the organization. Those desiring transportation are asked to notify the club president, Henry Pollock, or the pastor, the Rev. Herbert J. Doran.

MRS. EDWARDS AND MRS. BOWERS ARE PARTY HOSTESSES

Bronze and yellow appointments, reflecting the attractive autumn landscape outdoors, trimmed the party tables, when Mrs. Howard M. Edwards and Mrs. A. C. Bowers entertained at luncheon and bridge today at the Edwards home on Chula Vista. Luncheon covers were indicated for 36 guests, who spent the afternoon at contract.

Today's party was the first of a series of two bridge-luncheons which Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Bowers have planned this week. Tomorrow, they will be hosting for a second group of 36.

MISS SLAGLE ENTERTAINS

Miss Mary Kathryn Slagle entertained with a Hallowe'en party last evening for the pleasure of her class of girls from the Methodist church school. Games and contests pertaining to the October holiday and a ghost walk were fun for the group, and were followed by a Hallowe'en lunch.

Members of the class attending were Jean Brown, Betty Cable, Betty Grimes, Loretta Wilson, Joyce Wilson, Marie Scudder, Audrey Popma, Elaine Fischer, Lois France, and Mary Goodman.

MENDOTA CHOIR HOLDS PICNIC

The weekly rehearsal for members of St. John's Lutheran choir at Mendota last evening was followed by a moonlight picnic on the lawn at the F. J. Reichardt home, 1202 Indiana avenue. Twenty members of the group gathered around the outdoor fireplace for a hamburger fry. Group singing was the concluding pleasure.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON

Mrs. R. L. Baird was hosting at luncheon and contract on Tuesday. Her party numbered 16.

This evening gown, called "American Beauty," combines slim lines with the fashionable "back interest." Made of silk crepe, it features an intricately draped bodice which extends into a peplum back.

Miss Merriman is Complimented

First of the pre-nuptial parties complimenting Miss Betty Merriman, a January bride-to-be, was a linen shower given Monday evening by Miss Mae Louise Eichler. Miss Eichler's guest list included 11 friends of the honoree, whose fiancé is Paul Potts.

Bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the rooms of the Eichler home, where three tables were set up for bridge games. Miss Jean Bovey and Mrs. Raymond Toot were awarded favors when tallies were compared at the close of play.

Miss Merriman's gift cards read for Mrs. Louis Salzman, Mrs. Ollie Melvin of Sterling, Mrs. Raymond Toot, and the Misses Bettie Haines, Leone Kreim, Betty Nichols, Anna Jean Crabtree, Jean Bovey, Emily Swan, Barbara Campbell, and the hostess.

DIXON UNIT HAS REPORTS

Numerous reports gave members of the American Legion Auxiliary a glimpse of their various activities at last evening's meeting of the unit in the Legion hall. Mrs. Zildah Kennaugh presided, with 15 members attending.

Mrs. Addie Snyder spoke of the flag presentation at the Stony Point school. Mrs. Dorothy Teschendorf gave an account of the school of instruction at Fulton. Mrs. Winifred Edous told of the recent banquet of the Woman's Relief corps honoring department officers, and Mrs. Louise Enichen reported that ten pounds of carpet rags were sewed at the last sewing meeting at Mrs. Origien's home.

An invitation was read from Dixon circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., for a banquet and reception, which the circle is planning for Saturday evening at Grand Detour. A pledge of $24 was voted for the treasure chest. Mrs. Clara Traynor of the local unit is district chairman for the chest.

ENTERTAIN WITH BRIDGE-LUNCHEON

Two out of town guests were among those who were fortunate in the card games, when Mrs. Anna Moore and Mrs. Harry Edwards entertained at luncheon and contract yesterday at Mrs. Moore's home. Miss Murdock of Oregon, Mrs. John Davies, and Mrs. Harry Wheat of Freeport received the score favors.

FIRST YEAR

Mrs. Wilbur Welch arranged an afternoon party yesterday, honoring her little daughter, Dearly Rae, who was celebrating her first birthday anniversary. The birthday cake, which was a gift from Mrs. S. E. Wirth, was shared by 12 young guests and their mothers.

SORORITY HAS STEAK FRY

Beta Sigma Phi of Gamma Mu chapter gathered at the Beier cottage at Whirlpool Rock near Grand Detour last evening to enjoy a steak fry arranged by Miss Alice Thomson. In the crowd were the Misses Lois Odett, Mary Margaret Hill, Lucille Stauffer, Dagmar Petersen, Frances Crowley, Sylvia Carey, and the hostess.

ON SOUTHERN TRIP

When Louis Pitcher, Sr., executive vice president of the Independent Telephone association, left recently on an extended business trip through the south, Mrs. Pitcher accompanied him. The couple's itinerary will take them through Virginia, the Carolinas and Florida and will keep them in the south until Thanksgiving or later.

Deserts are caused chiefly by regular passage of hot, dry trade winds.

Fosters Plan Costume Dance

The ragbag and attic trunk will be picked clean by the end of the week, for Mr. and Mrs. William Foster of the Dixon Country club are flinging a costume party on Saturday evening that calls for old-fashioned "hard times" clothes. And since the Fosters are promising a prize for the most unique costume, interest in what to wear is running high.

Dancing will entertain from 10 o'clock on, and if the evening is cool, there will be a fire on the hearth. Mrs. Myrtle Bishop's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion, which will mark the close of the 1939 season of the club.

The Fosters expect to leave Tuesday or Wednesday for Chicago, before heading for Florida to spend the winter. They will return to Dixon again in the spring, having been engaged as club pro and caterers for the third consecutive year.

PERSONALS

Sam Bacharach, James Ballou and W. C. Jones motored to Rochelle, Geneva and Aurora today.

Farm Adviser C. E. Yale, Ellis Kugler and Byron Weidman, manager of the Dixon cold storage locker plant and Charles Becker of Amboy are attending the Illinois locker plant meeting at Urbana. The men went to the university city yesterday and will return tomorrow.

TO EDIT BLUE BOOK

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—Harry Canfield, Chicago newspaperman, has been engaged as editor of the 1939-40 Illinois Blue Book, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes announced today. Canfield's appointment is effective Oct. 30, Hughes said. The Blue Book, published biennially, is an historical record of the state government. Canfield formerly was city editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

The elephant as the symbol of the Republican party was originated by Thomas Nast in a cartoon published in 1874.

TURNING PAGES THROUGH THE AGES

And tomorrow it's DeKalb! This is the eleventh engagement between the Orange and Black and the Purple and White as members of the North Central conference. In those ten engagements Dixon won six and DeKalb three. One game ended in a tie. Breaking this down, here are the facts:

1938

Bright October afternoon . . . here . . . DeKalb delivered . . . although Dixon made 147 yards on rushing, the DeKalb team won 6 to 0 and made only 34 yards rushing. . . Dixon made 10 first downs while DeKalb made 4. . . Dixon threatened a number of times but lacked the final "zush" to put the ball across . . .

1937

Conference time depended on the game . . . Dixon punt blocked on its own 40 . . . Dixon finally recovered the ball . . . started a powerful drive that ended in touchdown . . . the winning play was a pass from Ankeny to Page and lateral to Salzman for the goal . . . point bumbled . . . Red Ellis made a run of 71 yards for another score. Final: Dixon 18, DeKalb 0.

1936

Ground drenched after all-night rain . . . Oct. 31 . . . Touchdowns by Ellis, Ankeny, McMillon and Lloyd Miller. Dixon 26, DeKalb 0.

1935

Nov. 9 . . . rain, snow, fog . . . field like plowed ground . . . touchdown by M. Rebeck . . . after four penalties and long pass DeKalb scored . . . kick blocked by Dick Boos and L. Schumm. Dixon 6, DeKalb 6.

1934

Nov. 3 . . . real battle . . . sea of mud . . . R. Underwood made both touchdowns. Dixon 12, DeKalb 0.

1933

Armistice Day . . . there . . . Underwood's pass to Bellows for first six points . . . pass from Henry to Bellows . . . good for second score . . . L. Miller—fresh end of Dixon tackled DeKalb punter behind goal for safety. Dixon 14, DeKalb 0.

1932

Oct. 21 . . . here . . . air tight game . . . DeKalb scored in third quarter . . . result of penalty on I-yard line . . . again in last minute to play. Dixon 0, DeKalb 12.

1931

McReynolds made five runs for over 50 yards each . . . called back for "certain something," nobody knew about . . . Wolfe blocked punt and fell on it for first touchdown . . . DeKalb scored in third quarter . . . fell on fumble on 4-yard line . . . took 'em four downs to make it . . . then just barely . . . pass. Daniels to Strong for Dixon touchdown in last quarter. Dixon 12, DeKalb 6.

1930

Here . . . Dixon made four first downs . . . Nori of DeKalb passed on fourth down for 40 yards to touchdown in fourth quarter . . . Nori intercepted a pass desperately thrown by Dixon for another six points. Dixon 0, DeKalb 13.

1929

Oct. 12 . . . there . . . DeKalb aggressive in first half . . . Dixon came through in third quarter . . . McReynolds, frosh halfback, starred for Dixon . . . he made 35 yards through left tackle in first play . . . Daniels made touchdown on smash after long pass from Daniels to Courtright . . . Teeter made point. Dixon 7, DeKalb 0.

Squarely on the Spot

Tom Harmon

By EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The All-American possibilities of Tom Harmon, a top ranking gridiron gladiator of this football season, will go squarely on the spot next Saturday afternoon.

Before a crowd which may go as high as 70,000 persons, Michigan will entertain Yale at Ann Arbor—with Harmon the young man most of the customers will be watching. This triple-threat Wolverine ace thus far has done everything required of a great star. He's scored 52 points in three games, making seven touchdowns, seven points after touchdowns, one field goal and passing Michigan to numerous additional points.

But he has turned in that remarkable performance against three comparatively weak opponents—Michigan State, Iowa and Chicago—and his big test will come Saturday in an important intersectional battle and against a team with two star backs of its own.

In Fred Burr and Hovey Seymour the invaders will present a pair of offensive stars who may dim Harmon's brilliance. Should Harmon have a great afternoon against Yale—comparable to his scoring all 27 points in Michigan's win over Iowa—he might claim recognition as the finest halfback in the land.

Warns Wolverines Coach Fritz Crisler warned the Wolverines yesterday that "Yale will keep pitching passes at one spot, usually short over-the-line heaves, as a build up for a long shot." A long drill on pass defense followed.

Iowa and Wisconsin, which meet Saturday at Madison, also worked out against aerials. Illinois appeared impressive in stopping Northwestern plays and also clicked on offense. Injuries will keep two Northwestern regulars—halfback Red Hahnenstein and Guard Don Gutzit—out of play against Illinois at Evanston Saturday. Both have foot ailments.

Rain hampered Ohio State's drills for Cornell. En route to San Francisco where his team will oppose Santa Clara, Mal Elward, Purdue coach, took time out at Omaha, Neb., to disapprove of several referee's decisions this year.

Minnesota, one of three conference teams with open dates Saturday, worked almost exclusively on pass defense and particularly against the play by which Ohio State scored its three touchdowns last week. Coach Bo McMillin, calling the Ohio State backfield "man for man probably the greatest in the country," directed Indiana through defensive formations for its game with the Buckeyes Nov. 4. Chicago had a long scrimmage. Rain sent Notre Dame into the fieldhouse for its drill.

Sanborn	160	FB	Ronan	147

TIME AND PLACE: High school athletic field at DeKalb tomorrow night. Lightweight game to start at 6:45 p. m. with heavyweight encounter to follow.

HEAD COACHES: C. B. Lindell (Dixon); James Trees (DeKalb).

OFFICIALS: Quintar Bere of Freeport, Paul Yoe of Mt. Morris and Edward Claus of Ottawa.

With one victim (the Alumni) already knotted in the victory belt, the Dixon high school football team will turn to bigger game tomorrow night as the Purple seeks its first conference triumph at DeKalb. Victory would be a big feather in Dixon's cap and a knot in the belt would probably be so big it would cut the confining leather in two allowing room for expansion.

The importance of tomorrow night's encounter has Coach C. B. Lindell shuffling his cards this week in the hope of drawing a winning hand. Several major changes are likely and even on the night before the battle the local mentor is not certain who will trot out on the field. Much depended on tonight's dress rehearsal.

Shoaf, named to start at left end, may be replaced during the game by Ardell Bugg who returns to the team after a recent tonsilectomy. Johnson has been named as alternate for Vaile at left guard. Wienman will remain at center, but three possible players have been named for right guard and they include Denison, Sanford or Quick. Travis and Collins will retain their posts at right tackle and right end, respectively.

Dixon Backfield

Although Moser has been named to start at quarterback, others who may see action at that assignment include Walders and Weidman. Mantsch remains at left half and Sanborn at fullback, while the right half's shoes may be filled by either McNichols, Hoeman or Weidman.

Weidman, a sophomore, has been showing up well in recent encounters, and may merit a start at either quarter or right half. Walders, suffering with injured ribs, may be kept out of the game entirely.

With the incorporation of such trackmen as Weidman and Hoeman into the Purple's backfield, the locals hope to speed up that department in both offensive and defensive action.

Noting the advantage recent rivals have found in Dixon's failure to show sizeable gains in punt and kickoff returns, Coach Lindell has been drilling this week to step up the pace in that defensive measure. Hoeman, one of the fastest men on the team, may replace Moser as safety man while Collins and Weidman have also been working at that assignment. Comparative statistics have shown a decided weakness in that part of the Purple's makeup and every effort is being made to correct that fault.

Makes Task Difficult

Making the task all the more difficult, Dixon will be faced with the punts of DeKalb's Jarvi who is one of the best booters in the circuit. He has the ability to kick into the coffin corner where the ball rolls out near the goal line and returns are impossible. The Lindell-men, bucking a line which will outweigh them considerably, are expected to rely again on a passing attack to smash the defense of the Barbs. This week the boys have also worked to perfect pass defense and have tried out new plays for offensive drives. Tuesday night the club was rained out after spending only about a half hour on the field.

Reports from the Barbs' camp reveal that the opponents are much on the alert also working on pass defense as they anticipate Dixon's mode of attack. It is in this department that the DeKalbs are reported to have fallen down in recent games and every effort is being made to iron out the rough spots.

With no outstanding blocker, the Barbs are also said to be drilling in the last hours before the game to bolster this action. Coach Trees expects to meet the Dixonites with full strength, but has been working with reserves to fill any holes which might develop during the encounter.

Dixon appears to have the conviction DeKalb will be plenty tough, and the Barbs are convinced Dixon will be equally as determined—and that, for the fans, is what makes for good gridiron games.

Sharing the importance of tomorrow night's trip to DeKalb will be Coach Marvin Winger's reserves who will clash with the Barbs' ponies in the preliminary game to start at 6:45 o'clock. Missing from the probable starting lineup of the Dixonites will be Leon Drew and Padilla, who has a knee injury, may also be absent. If the latter does see action it will be at right half. Tofte has been named by Winger as an alternate for Thompson.

GIANTS TO INSTALL LIGHTS AT POLO GROUNDS FOR 1940

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Despite the long-standing objections of Manager Bill Terry, the New York Giants have decided to install a bang-up lighting system in the Polo Grounds and play a full quota of night games next summer, both at home and on the road.

The Giants thus become the last of the big league clubs to haul down their sunlit banner and succumb to the financial lure of the arc. Up to now Terry stubbornly has refused to expose his Athletics to the night air, but he evidently has been overruled at last. An official announcement will be made in about a week.

This will leave Yankee Stadium alone of the three local ball joints without a lighting system. Brooklyn made a mint of money with its night games at Ebbets Field the past season. The Yanks are willing to play a few night games away from home, but President Ed Barrow is dead set against installing lights—"at least for 1940."

Terry, who has said he never, never would play under lights, will have to shade his eyes and like it, a martyr to the desire of the stockholders to make money. He will remain field manager of

GAMES ON THE AIR

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The networks this mid-Saturday of the football season will broadcast two football games in full and the last part of a third.

Three networks, WJZ-NEC, and CBS and MBS, are to concentrate on the Cornell-Ohio State contest at Columbus, while the WEAU-NEC list of stations picks up Yale vs. Michigan at Ann Arbor. After it completes the Cornell-Ohio details, MBS will swing to Evanston, Ill., for the conclusion of Illinois-Northwestern game.

The team, not yet having convinced his employers he would be more valuable sitting at a desk directing the Giants' farm properties.

SOVIET DEMANDS ON FINLAND NOT YET ACCEPTABLE

However Negotiations Between Governments Will Continue

Helsinki, Oct. 26—(AP)—An authoritative source declared today that Soviet Russia's new, modified demands on Finland still contained points on which Finland refused to yield.

After Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi had spoken for an hour today with President Kyösti Kallio, Foreign Minister Elias Erkkö and Prime Minister Aimo Cajander, a foreign office spokesman said there was "no doubt" negotiations with Russia could be continued and that the Finnish delegation headed by Dr. Paasikivi would go to Moscow for the third time.

Dr. Paasikivi and the entire delegation returned to Helsinki this morning, bringing the new demands with them.

What points Russia has raised were not disclosed but they were said to involve what Finns consider the republic's independence and neutrality.

There was no announcement of when Paasikivi would go back to Moscow, a government source saying merely he would leave "in due time."

"Like a Promenade"

Of reports that the government was considering making public the Russian demands to put Finland's case before the world, a spokesman said:

"Always, in negotiations of this kind, the point comes when they must be made public. So far we have no reason to do it."

This was the second time the Finnish envoy had come back without reaching an agreement with Russia on still undisclosed issues. When one official commented on the brevity of this trip, Paasikivi laughed and replied, it was "like a promenade."

The delegation went immediately to the foreign office for a discussion of the delicate situation with Prime Minister Aimo Cajander and other government leaders.

Some observers expected that the latest Russian demands would be communicated immediately to the governments of Norway, Denmark and Sweden which, it was disclosed, have been in daily contact with Helsinki since the Stockholm conference last week.

West Brooklyn

Bieschke-Ruhland Nuptials

St. Mary's Catholic church at West Brooklyn was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday morning at 8 o'clock when Miss Marie Bieschke, became the bride of Norbert Ruhland. Rev. Raymond A. Horner celebrated the nuptial high mass and performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride's gown was of white tulle, floor length with a finger tip veil of tulle and a tiara of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Charlotte Bieschke, who was attired in a gown of royal blue, fashioned like the bride's. She wore a royal blue velvet ribbon in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet.

Raymond Ruhland attended his brother as best man. Both wore dark suits.

Following the ceremony, a three course wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, to the bridal party and the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bieschke of this place, and is a charming young lady with a host of friends. She is a graduate of the Amboy Township high school with the class of 1936. For the past year she has been employed by the Ottawa Milk Products Co. as book-keeper.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruhland of West Brooklyn. He attended school in Beaver Dam, Wis. and also is a graduate of the Amboy Township high school, in 1934. For the past year he has been operating the Ottawa Milk Products Co. Mr. and Mrs. Ruhland left for a wedding trip which will include places of interest in the east. The bride's going away costume was a grape-colored ensemble. The newlyweds will reside in an apartment which they have furnished in Ottawa, at 327 LaFayette street.

Funeral services were held at the home on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with interment in the Union cemetery.

TAKEN AT HIS WORD
Austin, Minn., Oct. 26—(AP)—Leroy Cunningham wasn't very familiar with court procedure when he went on trial.

"Take the witness chair," his attorney told him.

Cunningham did—and carried it over to the attorney.

Soy Bean Price High In Spite of Record Crop

Chicago, Oct. 26—(AP)—Despite movement to market of the biggest domestic soy bean crop in history futures prices today were near the season's best level.

Good demand for the commodity—highest priced sold on the Board of Trade bushel-for-bushel—has produced a steady price advance.

Before the opening today, soy bean futures were about five cents higher than a week ago and about ten cents higher than two weeks ago.

Buying of futures has been stimulated by recent shipments out of this market, and general demand from commission houses, locals and processors has caused some uneasiness among shorts.

December beans yesterday sold up to 90½, new season high, and closed at 89½, up 2½ cents. Beans for July delivery soared as much as 4½ cents to 93½ and finished 3½ up at 92½. A year ago December contracts were at about 72 cents.

Cash beans have been very strong. No. 2 yellow selling at 60½ yesterday, equalling the December contract, and comparing with 73 cents a year ago.

Most receipts, which have been heavy and Monday reached the record total of 752 cars, were being applied on contracts. Visible stocks at Chicago increased 832, 000 bushels last week, making the total at the end of the week only 1,532,000 bushels. Export sales were estimated as now totaling 9,000,000 bushels, much of which is yet to be shipped. Early this week about 700,000 bushels were moved out of here via the lakes, and traders expressed belief no burdensome stocks would be built up here.

Northern European countries as well as England, France, Belgium and Holland have been reported interested in American soy beans this year because of the smaller Manchurian crop and because of ocean traffic difficulties which are generally curtailing supplies of oil. The American crop has been estimated at more than 80,000,000 bushels, compared with 57,665,000 harvested last year.

Hungary, Italy, Yugoslavia Will Fight Red 'ism'

Budapest, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The presence of Soviet Russian troops on the Polish side of the Carpathian mountains is forging unity among Hungary, Yugoslavia and Italy to prevent any march of communism into southeastern Europe, it was indicated in authoritative quarters today.

It was said authoritatively that should there materialize any threat of a Russian advance into Rumania, the former Czechoslovak province which Hungary occupied last March, Hungary would have the aid of Italy and Yugoslavia, if it became necessary for her to take up arms.

These quarters said Hungary had received such assurances from Italy and Yugoslavia.

Hungary, an anti-communist stronghold since the communist rule of Bela Kun in 1919, it was said, is determined to make the Carpathians a barrier to any further advance of communism.

This objective, it was said, is supported by Italy and Yugoslavia, the one fascist, the other strongly anti-communist, because they fear that if the red army once passed this natural bulwark, it would find little to stop it short of the Adriatic.

It also was said authoritatively that should there be a Russian invasion of the Rumanian province of Bessarabia, Hungarians probably would be impelled to march to the Carpathian range in that country—through the western Rumanian province of Transylvania.

The closer to the sun the earth is, the faster it travels along its orbit, and since it is at its nearest point during the winter months, it makes the distance from the autumnal equinox to the vernal equinox in less time.

To Discuss Frozen Foods

Miss Frances Cook, extension specialist in foods and nutrition, University of Illinois, will discuss "Frozen Foods" as a part of the Ogle County Home Bureau program Wednesday, November 1, at 1:30 p. m.

Suggestions as to the varieties of fruits and vegetables which seem to be best for sharp freezing, the preparation of the fruits and vegetables for meat for freezing, desirable freezing temperatures and storage conditions and containers or wrapping paper for the products will be a part of the discussion.

Miss Cook will also discuss developments in the frozen food industry and give a demonstration of methods to be used in the preparation of the frozen products for table use. The meeting is open to anyone interested in the subject.

Family Night

Jolson-Keeler Marriage Hits Rocks in West

Hollywood, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The love song of Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler is ended, but for Al the melody lingers on.

Singer Jolson sadly confirmed today reports Miss Keeler had left him and would sue for divorce. They celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary with an elaborate night club party last Sept. 21, Jolson said just before Ruby left him.

"I hope everything will work out all right. I hope you'll come back right away," Jolson said.

"Maybe," she replied.

Miss Keeler and Al Jolson, Jr., 4, the boy they adopted from a Chicago nursery, were in seclusion at the Toluca Lake home of her parents.

Jolson, meanwhile, drifted around the 15-room Encino showplace he built five years ago, and said he would stay there until his wife "made up her mind once and for all."

Jolson, born Asa Yoelson in Russia 53 years ago, was married twice before he met Miss Keeler. His second wife, Ethel Delmar Jolson, divorced him in Paris in 1926.

Miss Keeler was 19, a Broadway dancer, when she married the man who had become world-famous as a "Mammy" singer on the stage and who had just achieved new success in the first talking picture, "The Jazz Singer."

After her marriage, she too appeared in numerous films, but has been seen infrequently in pictures in recent years, devoting much of her time instead to golf.

Jolson, a member of the Jewish faith, said that in discussion of the separation he offered his Catholic wife $400 a week for life and a settlement of $50,000 in the event she remarried, with a $100,000 cash trust fund for Al Jr. Miss Keeler rejected the offer as insufficient, he added.

The singer said family troubles which he had not considered important enough to cause divorce brought about the separation.

Boone, Stephenson, Livingston Champions

By the Associated Press

Cornhusking contests produced three more county champions yesterday. They were:

Boone county—Philip Poole, who husked 35.41 bushels in a rain-soaked field near Irene before a crowd which officials estimated at 9,000. Poole once won the Winneshago county title.

Stephenson county—Franklin Ross, who won his third title with a load of 37.57 bushels, husked in a field near Freeport. Eldon Vehmeier of Dakota was second, 37.21 bushels.

Livingston county—Bert Weichman of Flanagan, who husked 34.5 bushels at the A. F. Weichman farm near Bloomington.

ICE BUGGY OFF ON JOURNEY TO POLAR REGIONS

Giant Snow Cruiser Is Escort by State Police Squadrons

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The 75,000 pound snow cruiser built for Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition headed for Boston today on the first leg of a projected journey to the South Pole.

The gigantic ice buggy started the eastern trek at 2:45 A. M. (CST) from Grant Park where it had been on public display for a day. Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, scientific director of Armour Institute's Research Foundation and designer of the cruiser, was at the controls.

On the outer drive Dr. Poulter rolled the juggernaut along at 20 miles an hour but for most of the way to the city limits the machine traveled at half that speed because of turns and underpasses.

Night workmen and motorists along the route stopped to gaze at the strange vehicle as it moved along the dimly lit streets. Both front and rear wheels were turned when the craft negotiated curves. The cruiser can travel sideways at a 25 degree angle.

Boston in Eight Days

Because of the cruiser's dimensions—55 feet long and 20 feet wide—highway police preceded the vehicle to clear the regular traffic. Dr. Poulter expected to reach Boston in eight days.

After tests on the sand dunes near Gary, Ind., the cruiser will make an overnight stop at Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Motors powered by two huge Diesel engines turn the cruiser's four wheels. Its rubber tires measure 10 feet in diameter. The vehicle has a cruising range of 500 miles, accommodations for a five man crew, and will carry fuel and provisions for a year of exploration.

Crew members aboard when the cruiser left were Dr. Poulter, Radioman Felix Feranto, U. S. Marine Corps, and Engineer Charles Meyer, U. S. Navy. Joining them later will be Dr. Alton Wade, scientist and commander, and Theodore Petras, Marine Corps pilot for the airplane the cruiser will carry on its back in the Antarctic.

Publicity Man Hurt

The odd craft rumbled out of the city without mishap to itself and reached Hammond, Ind., about sunrise, shortly before 6 A. M., having traveled some 23 miles. There were several stops to change police escorts, Indiana state police taking up the duty at the state line.

Alexander Schreiber, publicity man for Armour Institute, was shaken up when his automobile and a truck collided on the south side as he drove ahead of the cruiser to help police clear the way. Taken to a hospital, he was released after examination.

Obituary

MILLARD F. FUNK

Millard F. Funk, one of Ogle county's oldest citizens, passed away after a three weeks' illness at the Oregon hospital at 12 o'clock Monday, October 16, Mr. Funk, the second son of Peter and Mary Lamph Funk, was born in Pine Creek township, Ogle county, September 16, 1856. His entire lifetime of over 83 years, was spent in the community in which he was born. For many years he was a successful farmer. He also held many positions of trust and because he rendered good stewardship in each case he enjoyed a wide circle of friends and was well known throughout northern Illinois. He took a keen interest in politics and civic matters and was always loyal to his friends. For 25 consecutive years he held a position of trust at the Illinois state fair and filled it with much credit to all concerned. In recent years he suffered effects of rheumatism and at time it was difficult or him to move about but he bore his affliction with great fortitude. About three weeks ago he was removed to Oregon, Ill., where he could have better medical aid. His wife passed away about 24 years ago and he leaves to mourn his passing five children: Clinton and Clayton, at home; Orville of Griswold, Iowa, and Grace and Lulu, at home. Also three brothers, M. H. and B. F. of Atlantic, Iowa, and W. O. of Okmizee, Oklahoma.

W. S. Buck, who for many years conducted a successful mercantile business in Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Neb., but now is residing in California, was brought up in the Funk home and such an affectionate friendship developed between them that they were generally known as brothers.

Mr. Funk was for many years a member of the Christian church at Pine Creek, also a member of the Dixon lodge, B. P. O. E.

The funeral services were held in the Pine Creek Christian church on Thursday, Oct. 19 at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. W. Ford, pastor of the Dixon Christian church, and his body was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery beside that of his wife. Those attending from a distance were M. H. Funk and wife, and B. F. Funk of Atlantic, Iowa. Orville Funk and Mrs. H. L. Nettz of Griswold, Iowa.

DIES COMMITTEE REVELATIONS RESULT IN FURORE

Names of Governmental Employees on Mailing List of Red Front

Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—The Dies committee encountered fresh criticism today for publishing what it termed a "membership and mailing list" of the Washington branch of the American League for Peace and Democracy.

In the wake of a dispute on the House floor over the action, Rep. Voorhis (D-Calif.) told reporters that the committee, to which he belongs, had done wrong in making public the list of 365 Federal employees.

The committee has called the league a "communist-front" organization, but Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) emphasized it had no evidence that any of the persons named was a communist.

Voorhis said that giving out the list was "just what the communists wanted us to do." He added:

"It will lead to casting doubt upon the findings of the committee even when they are of the most substantial and important sort."

Rep. Dempsey (D-N.M.), another committee member protested to his colleagues yesterday that all the persons named were not members of the league, "and will be done an injustice."

Later, in the House, Rep. Coffee (D-Wash.) demanded that the chamber and the Roosevelt administration repudiate the committee's action. He accused it of engaging in "un-American activities which it was created to smoke out."

Mr. Cox Asks Question

Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) interrupted to inquire:

"If there is not something that is bad about this so-called League for Peace and Democracy, if it is not actually a front for the communist party, if there is not something about it that members should wish to conceal, then why object to the publication of the list of the members of the Washington chapter?"

In addition to Edwin S. Smith, member of the National Labor Relations board, and Louis Bloch, member of the Maritime Labor Board, each drawing $10,000 yearly salaries, government employees included in the "membership and mailing list," which was made public, whose salaries were given as $5,000 or more, were:

Identifications are as shown in the list.

National Labor Relations Board: Nathan Witt, position unidentified, $7,500.

Treasury department: Dorothy Walton (for Mrs. Stanley Survey), assistant legal counsel, $6,500.

Securities and Exchange Commission: E. D. Kennedy, Asst. Supv., $5,000; Sigmund Timberg, attorney, $5,200; L. C. Vass, staff expert, $5,400.

Social Security Board: Ivan Asay, administrative advisor, $5,000; Merrill G. Murray, director analysis division, $7,000.

Rural Electrification Administration: Foster Adams, chief res. stat., $5,400; Ward B. Freeman, coordinator engr., $6,000; S. R. Gayer, attorney, $6,000; Harry Lambertson (the league's local chairman), lawyer, $6,000; Allen Moore, lawyer, $6,000; T. E. O'Callahan, public relations counsel, $5,000; Franklin Wood, attorney, $5,400.

Interior Department: Oscar L. Chapman, assistant secretary, $9,000; Willard W. Beatty, chief off. Indian Affairs, $7,500.

Maritime Labor Board: Gregory Silvermaster, economist, $5,600.

Federal Power Commission: George Slaff, attorney, $5,200.

Department of Agriculture: Mordecai Ezekiel, director AAA, $5,000; Robert Marshall, admin. officer forest service, $5,800.

Department of Labor: Carroll Daugherty, chief econ., $7,000.

Railroad Retirement Board: Milton Kramer, prin. atty., $5,800.

The list included the names of 23 persons described as employees of the District of Columbia public school system.

A wide salary range was covered from $10,000 down to a Bureau of Engraving and Printing employ listed for 84 cents an hour.

L. C. Vass, an SEC statistician, said he was not a member "to the best of my knowledge." He had not the "slightest idea," he declared, of how his name got on the list.

Sigmund Timberg, an SEC attorney, said that he was on the league's mailing list, but did not know whether he was a member.

SEC officials said that an E. D. Kennedy had been employed there on a special assignment for about eight months but left last August 6.

commander-in-chief of the British Grand Fleet, described it as "the greatest peril which ever threatened the population of this country (England)."

The famous sailor naturally had in mind that Britain is utterly dependent on the outside world for 75 per cent of her food, and at that time supplies were getting dangerously low.

Jellicoe also took the extreme step of writing direct to the prime minister to declare that the loss of shipping alone might soon compel the allies to make peace.

The terror reached its height in 1917. On February 1 the Germans began a second "unrestricted" campaign. They designated the Mediterranean and the areas enclosing the British Isles and France as war zones and decreed that vessels of any nationality found in these waters should be destroyed.

Days of horror followed. I did my tricks as submarine-watch on the bridge of a ship in the Mediterranean when vessels were going down all about us, sometimes with all hands aboard, and can testify that life was hell on the high-seas then. In that year alone 2,639 merchant ships were sunk.

It's hard to say what might have happened to the allies had America's declaration of war not brought the United States navy into action to convoy merchant vessels and troop-ships. Certainly it isn't boasting to say that our navy did much to save the day.

Records of sinkings in the present war aren't complete, but about 90 allied and neutral merchant steamers appear to have been sent to the bottom.

The British the other day estimated that they had destroyed from a quarter to a third of the entire German submarine fleet. They figured this fleet last April at 43, with 22 more building.

With land fighting at a stalemate, each side has been concentrating on trying to cut the other fellow off from necessary supplies. Bitter accusations of attempts to starve children and other helpless civilians have been bandied about, and vigorously denied.

LINCOLN SCHOOL 100 PCT. JUNIOR RED CROSS TODAY

National Organization Faces Greatest Test Since Inception

The American Junior Red Cross, made up of 7,556,306 members, is answering one of the greatest challenges in its history by providing opportunities for school aged Americans to participate in activities that encourage the acquisition of the fundamentals of national and international citizenship at a time when it is most needed.

Mrs. Robert Brewster, Junior Red Cross chairman of the Lee County Red Cross chapter said yesterday.

Mrs. Brewster said that the Junior Red Cross membership is made up of students in the elementary and high schools throughout the United States and its insular territories. Schools in most communities have established the Junior Red Cross and its program of activities, she pointed out.

The Lincoln school of Dixon through the work of Miss Barton, now has a 100% Junior enrollment. Many schools throughout the country no doubt will be in the 100% list before the close of the annual roll call this year.

Largest In County

"With activities growing directly out of the learning programs of the schools," the local chairman declared, "the Junior Red Cross has come to be the largest youth organization in this country since its birth during the World War. The guiding principals of the organization are service to the community, the state, the nation and the family of nations, fitness for service through positive health, and the extension of understanding and appropriate attitudes among the children and youth of the world."

"Today with international conditions as they are, the need for understanding and true perspectives are very great. Through its activities at home and abroad the Junior Red Cross provides opportunities for its members to participate in the life of the times and to become better acquainted with their social responsibilities at home and abroad."

Mrs. Brewster explained that during the past year the Junior Red Cross had exchanged correspondence and educational materials on a group basis with Junior Red Cross members in forty other nations having Junior Red Cross programs.

"Assist Needy Children" "Members of the Junior Red Cross also assist children who are the victims of disaster," Mrs. Brewster said. "New clothing, medical care, and in many instances, books and other personal articles by disaster are replaced by the Juniors with money contributed within their group. Two publications, 'The News' and 'The Journal,' serving as guides for the Junior Red Cross program in the elementary and high schools, have the largest reader circulation a-

Tommy's Newest Romance Comes to Abrupt End

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 26—(AP)—The romantic notion which prompted Tommy Manville to spend $3,000 to bring Elinor Troy from Hollywood to New York in a chartered plane which was loaded with orchids and champagne, today became love's labor lost.

The asbestos heir said after a five-day tour of night clubs with the eye-filling show girl that they had parted company.

"We came up here to the country last night and she found 28 rooms too small for her," Tommy moaned.

"Besides that she didn't like the presence of Yvonne Arden (young radio singer).

"She told me 'you're too blamed busy with your business to get married,' so I called a cab for her."

Tommy said all this happened while he was in the midst of moving his personal belongings from his chateau here into a garage apartment on the grounds of his luxurious estate.

"She didn't like the garage apartment, either," he explained.

"In addition," he said, "she couldn't cook. She didn't even know when to turn off the gas while boiling water."

Miss Arden, he asserted, came along just for the fun of it.

The twice-married Miss Troy's trip alone in a 28-passenger plane last Friday and Saturday was the result of Tommy's telephoned proposal of marriage, she said.

Tommy first denied wedding plans, then admitted them, and was showered with the congratulations of cafe society as they flitted from one night club to another.

More 'Rescue' Fish Placed in Rock and Tributary Streams

One hundred and three thousand "rescue" fish obtained near Fulton by Game Warden Charles M. Myers, C. N. Poffenberger, Charles Duis and Vernon Wallace, under the supervision of Thomas J. Lynch, director of the state department of conservation, have been placed in Rock river at Oregon, Leaf river at Adeline and Leaf River, Buffalo creek, west of Polo, and Elkhorn creek, near Brookville.

The "rescue" fish were of the following species and number: bluegills, 50,000; crappies, 25,000; channel catfish, 5,000; black bass, 3,000; bullheads, 20,000.

ILLINOIS HERD WINS

San Francisco—(AP)—A. E. Bower & Son, Bushnet, Ill., was adjudged the premier breeder and exhibitor in the Brown Swiss division at the National Dairy Show. Bower entries took the ribbons for reserve grand champion bull, reserve grand champion cow. Illinois won the award for the best state herd.

ALCOHOLIC DEATHS

Washington—(AP)—The census bureau reported there were 152 deaths from alcoholism in Illinois in 1936, the total representing 0.2 per cent of all deaths. Nationally, the bureau said, alcoholic deaths dropped 51.9 per cent from 1910 to 1936, from an average death rate of 5.8 per 100,000 population in 1910 to 2.5 in 1932.

Employment in State Increased Last Month

Chicago, Oct. 26—(AP)—Employment in Illinois increased 2.4 per cent in September, compared with August, and payrolls increased 2 per cent, the state department of labor reported today.

Director Martin P. Durkin said the analysis was made from reports by 6,708 manufacturing and non-manufacturing establishments which employed 619,795 persons in the state in September.

The increases exceeded the 1.1 year average (1923-1938) of 1.6 per cent increase in employment and two-tenths of 1 per cent increase in payrolls. Employment last September was 8.8 per cent higher and payrolls were 13 per cent higher than in September, 1938.

The summary said the average weekly earnings of the 619,795 persons employed was $26.70.

Most substantial increases in employment in September were in the fields of coal mining, rubber manufacturing, textile manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, metals and machinery, and wood and allied products; in payroll increases, coal, rubber, textile and the food-beverage-tobacco group.

It has been reported that established air routes directly serve a little over one-fourth of the population, and of the 4,000 cities in the United States with more than 500 inhabitants, there are only 210 cities on the airlines.

practical purpose is served by ignoring the calendar. Dragging out the days to an enormous total of hours prevents senators from speaking twice in the same day by the legislative calendar. The practice is a roundabout way of limiting debate.

But in Texas, the sun rises, a man gets up and does his day's work, the sun sets, the man goes to bed and sleeps. The day is over in 24 hours. The next sun rises on a new day. By the clock, the calendar and the newspapers, along with other supporting facts he has dug up, the vice president concluded this week that he can prove it is not now October 4. He has offered to show the senate. He might be able to do it.

That it might put a new weapon in the hands of would-be filibusters is purely beside the point as far as Garner is concerned. Senatorial friends who have tried to argue the question with him came away with something like this ringing in their ears:

"I refuse to strain my mental integrity to the point of ruling that a day is longer than 24 hours. If the senate wants it otherwise, it should change its rules."

Garner's friends think that the senate will uphold him. In his seven years of presiding over the chamber, it has not overturned

Bookies Wasting Time If Learning to Spell

Chicago, Oct. 26—(AP)—If Chicago's bookies are learning to spell in hopes of thereby making peace with Uncle Sam, they're wasting their time, William J. Campbell, United States district attorney, intimated yesterday.

A federal grand jury charged the handbook system of betting on horse races by numbers was part of the lottery scheme. Of late, the boys with the checked vests have tossed out the numbers idea and are booking the bucks according to the nags' names.

Imagine the spelling headaches behind a parlay on "Hydromella," "Roykan," and "Adumino." (This is just an example, not a good thing for today.)

Informed of the new activity in the backroom joints, Campbell explained the lottery indictment was based "on a crime that has been committed" prior to the date of the indictment and "any subsequent change in the betting system will not affect the indictment." The indictment charged M. L. Annenberg, race-horse information publisher, and others with using the mails and interstate communications wires in the furtherance of a lottery scheme.

The 37-mm. aircraft gun used in U. S. army pursuit planes fires 120 shells a minute with an effective range to 5,500 feet.

Only those persons living near one of his rulings, a record for any vice president.

Weekly Food and Marketing Letter by Mrs. Emily Lautz for Dixon Telegraph Readers

Prospective guests never moan, "I simply haven't a thing to wear," when invited to a Halloween party. Perhaps that is one reason why everyone enjoys such a frolic, including the hostess.

If scarecrows, spooks, hobgoblins, or witches will not be welcome, invite your friends specifically to an Old Clothes Party, a Taffy Pull, or a School Days party. Set the keynote of informality with the invitation, and offer prizes for the most original costumes.

One hostess entertained recently at a Crazy Party, even writing her entire invitation backwards, so that amazed friends had to puzzle out words that started this way "Ytrap Yzarc A." Follow this spelling through with the information on the place, date, time and costume. The prize-winning couple rummaged through all their old clothes, and the young woman wore an ancient sweater with a floor-length velvet skirt, corsage of goldenrod, golf shoes, long white kid gloves, and feathered beret, plus assorted jewelry. Refreshments ran the gamut from caviar to baked beans, and the centerpiece was a hodgepodge of colors, mingling wild flowers, hot house blooms and celery in a mixing bowl.

No late October party, crazy or otherwise, is complete without hobbling for apples. Whether the apples are suspended by strings, or floating in a big pan of water, the guests must bite the apples without benefit of hands.

"Will you please lend a hand at our Taffy Pull?" No child or grown-up can resist a real old-fashioned taffy pull, but it is wise to specify this entertainment in the invitation, so that costumes will be appropriate.

A School Days party for grown-ups can be plenty of fun, if all the games and refreshments are in keeping. "Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight, take us to school again, just for a night," starts the invitation.

Of course, there must be a Spelling bee, with the players divided evenly into two teams. A special group of words may be prepared to fit the occasion, or "Dear Teacher" may choose them at random from the dictionary. When a pupil fails to spell the word correctly, he sits down and the chance passes on to the leader of the opposite side. The surviving contestant is crowned "prize spelling pupil," and should receive an appropriate prize.

Select three or four prize pupils to read tongue twisters rapidly. Sentences like this should be read three times quickly, without a pause:

Six thick thistle sticks; She sells sea shells by the sea shore; Many men mentally maneuvering many matters; Seven slender sisters sewing seams for sixty sainted saints; Rubber baby buggy bumpers; and the old favorite, Amidst the mists he shook his fists against the posts and still insists he sees six ghosts.

Successful at any party is the stunt "Crazy Milkman." Down the center of the floor place two rows of empty quart milk bottles. Arrange the rows at least eight feet apart and set the bottles about five feet apart in the rows. Select two players to take part in the first race. Explain to contestants that they are to walk blindfolded over the milk bottle course. To gauge the distance between bottles, allow them to try the route once or even twice, without the blindfold.

When the victims are securely blindfolded, quietly remove all the bottles from the course. As a result, the two victims will carefully figure their distance and do some ridiculous high-stepping to avoid colliding with the non-existent milk bottles. The cheers of the audience will convince the victim that he has successfully stepped over the first bottle, and he will hasten to repeat the process down the entire line.

The Blind Banana feast is another chance for hilarity. Youngsters love this one. Blindfold a boy and a girl and give them each a peeled banana—preferably a soft, ripe one. Instruct the couples to hold right hands, and at the word "go" tell them to feed each other the banana. For "safety first," provide each contestant with a generous bib by cutting a hole in a newspaper and dropping it over each player's head.

Whether or not it is a School Party, the idea of "recess" in another room may be adopted, while the hostess is preparing to serve refreshments.

In this room, which can be designated "School Playground," have a number of amusing gifts wrapped and hidden. A time limit can be set for the search, and "finders are keepers."

For a rousing opening to any party start off with a Crazy Shoe Scramble. Line up the guests at one end of the room and ask them to take off both their shoes. Collect all the footwear, carry it to the other end of the room and pile it in a mixed heap. At the word "go," the guests must race across the room, find their own shoes and put them on. The first one to return to the starting point is declared winner.

Remember the simple games are just as popular as simple food. Forget bridge for one night and try fortune telling, reading or telling ghost stories while the room is made dark, bobbing for apples, and clammy hand shakes. The ideas may be old-fashioned, but they will inspire fresh chills and fun, even as in the good old days!

AUTUMNAL TREATS

Ghost Cookies

These gingery cookies will fit any occasion, from lunch box to Halloween, when they can be decorated with raisin faces. Best of all, they can be prepared in advance and stored in the refrigerator. They are better for thorough chilling, which gives the flavors a chance to blend, and speeds up the slicing process.

One cup shortening, one cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup molasses, four and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon each soda and salt, three teaspoons ginger. Cream shortening and sugar. Add well-beaten eggs and molasses. Sift together dry ingredients and add gradually to mixture. For plain cookies, mold into long strips, roll in waxed paper, and place on platter in refrigerator. When ready to use, slice cookies as thin as desired and bake 10 to 12 minutes in hot oven 400 degrees.

For a special dessert, mold dough into loaf that will make cookies about three inches square when cut. After cookies are baked, put them together with sweetened whipped cream, top with the cream, and trim with raisins or candied fruit, if desired. Season in refrigerator at least four hours before serving. An excellent filling for ginger or chocolate icebox cookies thus stored combines two packages cream cheese, one-half cup apple butter, or tart jelly, and one-half cup whipping cream. Whip cream stiff before adding it to the blended cheese and apple butter. For individual servings, put four cookies together with this tasty mixture.

Autumn Salad Ring

One package lemon-flavored gelatin, one cup hot water, one-half cup tomato soup (or canned tomato juice), one-half cup cold water, two-thirds cup diced celery, two-thirds cup chopped nuts, one half cup chopped stuffed olives or sweet pickles, one-half teaspoon salt, three tablespoons olive juice. Melt the gelatin in hot water. Chill, add the soup, cold water and olive juice. Place in refrigerator, and when mixture begins to congeal, add remaining ingredients and pour into mold, or into convenient individual molds. Garnish with greens and olives. If a ring mold is used, fill the center with vegetables which have been marinated in French dressing. Any combination of cooked vegetables may be substituted for nuts and olives for a more substantial main dish salad.

Sweet Potato Croquettes

Two cups left-over sweet potatoes, one-fourth cup minced celery, warm milk (or cream) to moisten, one-half teaspoon salt, crushed cornflakes, melted butter. Mash potatoes until smooth.

Try a Taffy Pull

A taffy pull would solve rainy day problems for many a mother, as well as proving a party success. It is important to follow cooking instructions, and to begin work on small portions of the taffy as soon as it is cool enough to handle. Buttering the cooking utensil around the top will prevent taffy from boiling over.

Some recipes substitute honey for molasses, and others combine brown sugar, corn syrup and peppermint flavoring. Offer a prize for the "puller" who finishes first. Cut finished taffy with scissors.

Molasses Taffy: One cup white sugar, two cups brown sugar, one-fourth cup molasses, two tablespoons vinegar, two tablespoons butter, one cup cold water. Cook all ingredients until the mixture forms a hard ball when tried in cold water (250-264 degrees F.). Pour on a buttered plate and when cool enough to handle, pull and then cut in small pieces.

Honey Taffy: One cup honey, one cup sugar, one-half cup cold water, one teaspoon vanilla. Boil honey, sugar and water until mixture forms a hard ball when tested in cold water (250-264 degrees F.). Add vanilla. Pour on buttered platter to cool, and pull until white.

Another molasses taffy recipe cooks together for 20 minutes one cup sugar, two cups molasses, one tablespoon each vinegar and butter. Proceed as before.

Homemaking Newsletters

The early fall flurry among household buyers who stocked up on certain staples proved to homemakers that they do have it in their power to control prices. Most staples now are back to normal, with the exception of seasonal rises on eggs and certain fruits. Many are the reasonable buys in fish, which should be served more than once weekly. Imported cheese and marmalades are beginning to climb into the luxury class.

Designers of new aluminum molds evidently have taken counsel with wise homemakers before developing a series of improvements that make the product more serviceable and attractive. The design in the petal-shaped mold serves the double purpose of marking out equal servings, as well as eye-appeal. A special finish on the aluminum resists staining and facilitates cleaning. Another welcome improvement is the flat bottom, which makes the mold sit solidly when it is being filled. These convenient molds are offered in two "family" and two "individual" sizes.

Holiday time must be creeping up, for cranberries are in market. The early price is fairly high, although the crop is much larger than last year. New crop grapefruit also is coming in from the Isle of Pines. The bargain spotlight is being focused on poultry, featuring duckling and the "early bird"; i. e., turkey.

PEORIA SLUM CLEARANCE
Washington — (AP) — United States Housing Authority officials said construction would start Nov. 15 on the Col. John Warner homes and Harrison homes slum clearance and low rent housing projects in Peoria, Ill. They approved a bid of $3,616,700 by the Patrick Warren Construction Company, Chicago. The projects will rehouse 1,006 families.

NEW FLYING SCHOOL
Indianapolis, Oct. 26 (AP)—Col. Roscoe Turner, noted speed flier, will start a flying school here Nov. 1.
The Indianapolis board of works granted him a two-year lease on part of the municipal airport yesterday. The colonel said a $150,000 hangar would be built on the spot.
Turner said his school would train prospects for the military air corps of the United States and three foreign countries. He would not name the foreign countries.

Football-Delirious City
WARMING UP TO BUCKEYES
Columbus, O., Oct. 26 (AP)—This football-delirious city is warming up to "Our Boys"—those surprising Bucks of Ohio State.

Ohio had to win two starters and beat Minnesota before the broad and high quarterbacks—perhaps one of the best known second-guessing groups in gridiron fandom—got hep to the idea that the Bucks were more than a flash-in-the-pan eleven.

Before the season started the fans were down right chilly. Two of the first three games would be lost and Ohio would be lucky to win three games all season, predicted the downtown coaches as they talked of a new coach.

There was still a lot of finger-crossing as Ohio prepared to face Cornell Saturday in a game billed as the nation's top-flight intersectional clash, but if the Ohioans win there will be a terrific rush to hop on the Buck bandwagon.

When Coach Francis A. Schmidt introduced razzle dazzle play in 1934 he packed the huge Buckeye stadium. But his teams failed to win the "crucial games"—the ones carrying national prestige.

Development of an unprecedented team spirit, convincing triumphs over Missouri and Northwestern and finally the 23 to 20 victory over Minnesota smothered the Wolves' cries for Schmidt's scalp and now the fans are getting championship-conscious.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 26 (AP)—Howie (Two-Plays) Kaye, Yale's place-kicking specialist, has a few words of advice for football managers:

"Boot a football long enough and you'll kick yourself right on to the varsity."

Light as college players go, the 160-pound halfback thought his gridiron career was over when he broke an ankle in his freshman year. But he determined to stick close to the game. In order to do so and avoid injury, he went out for a managerial job.

Last spring, between rushing water out to the athletes and attending to other odd jobs, Kaye kicked a few placements and did it so well he was brought to the attention of Head Coach Ducky Pond. Ducky put him on the varsity before long, and Saturday, at Ann Arbor, he may get a chance to deliver a vital boot against Michigan.

Already the Middleburg (Va.) junior has delivered with his specialty in important spots. His field goal beat Columbia, 10-7, and his two extra-point conversions helped upset Army last Saturday, 20-15. After trying for the field goal or extra point, he stays in long enough to kick off, and that's where he wins his "two-plays" monicker.

GERMANS CLAIM BRITAIN IS NOT TELLING IT ALL

Say Whole Story of Cost in British Shipping Being Withheld

Berlin, Oct. 26—(AP)—A German spokesman hinted today that Great Britain was not telling the whole story of the cost in British tonnage of the bitter war at sea. German submarines, warplanes and surface raiders almost daily are challenging British supremacy on the seas with British sunken shipping calculated in the hundreds of thousands of tons. But the German Admiralty and propaganda ministry, for the time being, are giving no precise figures on the accomplishments of Nazi sea raiders. "Our sailors and aviators are out there, at Scapa Flow, in the North sea and in the east Atlantic, making a good account of themselves," a propaganda ministry spokesman said. "But the whole story cannot be told now and for actual German accomplishments at sea, the world, for the time being, must be content with the understated admissions of the British Admiralty." Raiding at sea is the German answer to British efforts to blockade Germany, it was said in official quarters, and the raiding policy is being guided by Britain's conduct of her blockade.

"Tit for Tat" Any cargoes in British ships which the British would hold up if they were destined for Germany are regarded as a fair game for the German raiders.

"We are doing to them what they are trying to do to us," was one comment in quarters close to the government.

While the Nazi press was preparing the nation for what Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering's newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung, warned would be a "relentless" fight, more than 20 army and air force generals and staff officers were reported to have conferred in Adolf Hitler's chancellery last night.

Further consolidating Nazi gains in the east, Hitler made the former Free City of Danzig a province and named Albert Forster, former Nazi district leader there, as governor. The new province includes also the pre-war province of West Prussia. It has a total population of about 2,400,000.

Trade Discussion A Russian trade delegation said to be particularly interested in the developing of artificial rubber and gasoline arrived to further cooperation under the Soviet-Nazi trade pact. The delegation is returning a visit made by a German delegation to Russia.

Headed by I. T. Tevosyan, commissar for shipbuilding, the Russian mission will visit heavy machinery plants to make purchases to offset orders placed in Russia by Germany.

Germany is negotiating with Russia for grain, oil, cotton, raw phosphate, flax, and manganese and other ores to replace sources shut off by the British blockade.

Troops Moving South for Winter Maneuvers

Chicago, Oct. 26—(AP)—Several units of the U. S. Army's fifth division were en route today to their winter concentration area at Fort McClellan near Annapolis, Md.

Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding the Sixth Corps Area and the Second Army, said the Fifth Division headquarters moved by rail from Fort Sheridan, Ill., and parts of the headquarters, military police and signal corps companies were en route overland.

He said the Second Infantry units at Fort Sheridan and at Forts Brady and Wayne in Michigan would follow shortly.

Illinois Stores Report Increase in Sales in Sept.

Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—Retail sales in independent Chicago stores last month were 10.5 per cent greater than in September, 1938, and in Illinois as a whole they were 12.9 per cent greater, the commerce department reports.

All cities covered in the department's survey showed increases for September, 1939, over the corresponding period of 1938, but the largest gains were in cities of from 25,000 to 50,000 population.

The department's estimate was based upon reports from 1,056 stores, of which 307 were in Chicago. In a separate estimate, the department said department store sales last month were 0.7 greater than a year ago in 37 stores throughout the state.

The report showed the stores covered in the survey did $11,720,492 worth of business last month in dollar sales, or 10.3 more than in August.

Motor vehicle dealers showed the largest gains in the cities covered 34.1 per cent, over 1938. Lumber and building materials dealers and hardware stores showed increases of 20.3 and 10.7 per cent, respectively. The 184 stores in the apparel group reported gains of 6.1 per cent. Sales by stores in the food group were up 5 per cent.

The cities, number of firms reporting in each, percentage of increase over September, 1938:

Peoria-32 firms, 4.1; Decatur-24 firms, 20.2; Evanston-16.4; Rockford-27 firms, 23; Springfield-16 firms, 18.8.

Alton-11 firms, 15.1; Aurora-15 firms, 17.6; Belleville-13 firms, 17.9; Bloomington-19 firms, 23.3; Galesburg-14 firms, 10.7; Joliet-17 firms, 10.3; Quincy-11 firms, 12.6.

Champaign-13 firms, 8.8; Kankakee-10 firms, 27.7; Belvidere-15 firms, 1.1.

During 1939 there were 28.6 accident deaths among passengers per 100,000,000 passenger miles flown by scheduled domestic airlines; during 1938, the figure was 4.5 passenger deaths per 100,000,000 passenger miles.

Man Old at 68
FEELS YOUNG NOW. TELLS SECRET
"I'm 68, but I'm not as old as I look. So I took OSTREX. It gave me vigor, vim and pep that makes me feel more like a kid than an old man."—Wm. Collier, Council Bluffs, Ia. OSTREX contains special ingredients and stimulants often needed by older people. Tolerated and approved by group of leading N.Y. doctors. One 75-year old doctor says, "I take myself into pleasant surprise, get 11 packages OSTREX today, for 80c. If not delighted with vim, vigor and pep you make you feel younger, make refunds the price. You don't risk a penny. Start online, period and younger this very day!" OSTREX—for that "after 40" letdown
